JURY FINDS NO BILL IN BUTT CASE

Exonerated From Blame in Killing of C. M. Milledge While Riding Horse

A. Pridham of Port Alberni Faces Manslaughter Charge at Nanaimo

Special to The Times

Nanaimo, April 10.—The grand jury to-day returned a no bill against Milledge Butt, charged with manslaughter, but it was riding on October 31, and killed both with his automobile. Butt struck C. M. Milledge, who was charged with manslaughter and causing grievous bodily harm when he hit Lydia Wilson on December 21 while driving a car.

The accused pleaded not guilty. Dr. Morgan, in giving evidence, stated that the deceased suffered a broken ankle and died on January 13 from septic poisoning.

Cross examined by defence counsel, he said Mrs. Wilson's husband died January 7 and deceased got worse. Then she started to improve, but died suddenly.

Constable Kyto stated he saw Pridham at the West Coast Hospital. On questioning him and accusing him of being under the influence of liquor, Pridham admitted having had two or three drinks of whisky. The case was adjourned until Thursday.

EASTER FISHING SEASON OPENS AT COWICHAN

The big Easter fishing season is already in full swing up the Island, according to reports gathered to-day by the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau.

Around Lake Cowichan, Capt. Charles Harris and his son, Graham, of Victoria, landed eleven fine fish, five of them being over three pounds in weight, according to W. H. Atkins. These fish were caught in Marble Bay and Bear Lake.

The fishing team of Jackson and Miller came down from Nanaimo at the end of last week and on Sunday landed twenty good-sized fish from Bear Lake. Others from Nanaimo, competing for the season's record, got from fourteen to twenty-six fish each.

JAMES ROLPH SEEKS OFFICE OF GOVERNOR

Mayor of San Francisco For Twenty Years to Seek California's Highest Post

F. A. Rolph of Toronto, Cousin of Well-known Figure, Here To-day

MAYOR ROLPH

James Rolph Jr., who has been mayor of San Francisco for two decades, is announcing to-day his intention of offering himself as candidate for the Republican nomination for the office of Governor of the State of California.

In his manifesto issued to-day in San Francisco, Mayor Rolph says that, if elected, he will be "governor of all the people of California and will practice sound business principles, urging a practical and equitable tax plan," a "human solution of crime problems" and a "permanent programme for conserving natural resources."

ANNOUNCEMENT HERE

Mayor Rolph's decision to run for the governorship of the State of California was announced here to-day by his first cousin, Frank A. Rolph, president of the Toronto Board of Trade, who arrived in the city yesterday afternoon from California.

Mr. Rolph, who is president of Rolph, Clark, Stone & Company, well-known lithographers, and a director of the Imperial Bank of Canada and various important commercial organizations, has been holidaying during the last two months in the Hawaiian Islands and California, accompanied by Mrs. Rolph and their daughter.

He said he planned to enjoy a few days golfing here before returning to Toronto.

Mr. Rolph and his party left San Francisco early in February by the liner Colo for Honolulu and returned by the same boat to the Golden Gate.

INDUSTRY SOUND

"Industry is basically sound," said Mr. Rolph to-day in discussing business condition in eastern Canada.

"Our manufacturing and industries generally are not feeling the depression caused by financial speculations," he added. "We are doing well in Canada."

Mr. Rolph is proud of Toronto and its phenomenal development. He speaks enthusiastically of the work of the Toronto Industrial Commission, under the chairmanship of C. L. Burton, one of the outstanding driving business forces of Toronto to-day.

He said the Toronto boom boasted a population of 750,000 and within the last twelve months no less than twenty-seven new industries had been started in the city, largely through the efforts of the Industrial Commission.

While in the city Mr. and Mrs. Rolph and their daughter are guests at the Empress Hotel.

MRS. G. G. AITKEN CALLED BY DEATH

Wife of Provincial Geographer Succumbs at St. Joseph's Hospital To-day

At St. Joseph's Hospital this morning the death occurred of Evelyn Constance Wilma Aitken, wife of Major George Griffiths Aitken, of 200 Beach Drive, chief geographer of the Provincial Government.

The late Mrs. Aitken was born at Lake of Bays, Manitoba, Ontario, forty-two years ago, and had been a resident of this city for the last eleven years. A gifted pianist, Mrs. Aitken left a wide circle of friends, who will learn with regret of her passing. She is survived by her husband, three children, here: her parents and one sister in Bracebridge, Ontario, and one brother, R. H. Waras, M.C., in Montreal.

The remains are resting at the B.C. Funeral Chapel, and services will be held on Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

THIRD OF SUMAS RECLAMATION AREA SOLD

Big Purchase By David Spencer Ltd. Stimulates Sales

Close to a third of all the government's holding of 8,700 acres in the Sumas reclamation scheme have been sold already as a result of the present selling campaign, according to striking figures released at the Department of Agriculture to-day, says a dispatch to the Vancouver Daily Province.

Approximately 2,600 acres are being transferred from the government to twenty-three private holders, who will proceed immediately with their development.

At the present rate of sale it is believed that the entire lake bottom area will be sold during the present season, thus creating at Sumas one of the most important single agricultural centres in the Province.

Sales have been cranked in the last twenty-four hours by the decision of the David Spencer interests of Vancouver to purchase just under 1,300 acres on the northern side of the lake, on the new Trans-Provincial highway now under construction.

TO GROW TOBACCO

It is planned to use this land eventually in the production of tobacco, following the success of this firm in manufacturing and selling the British Columbia product on a large scale. Establishment of an important new tobacco industry at Sumas thus appears assured.

Apart from the large Spencer purchase the land is being sold for the most part in forty and eighty-acre blocks. The men anxious to use it for mixed farming—American farmers as well as British—have bought the land to establish homes on the advantageous terms now offered by the government.

REDUCTIONS MAY BE MADE

While the best parts of the lake bottom from an agricultural standpoint are being sold at the general price of $125 an acre, the government is prepared to reduce the price for land not so valuable for general farming purposes, but suitable for specialized uses. When the best land is sold some reduction in the price of the remaining areas is expected.

Meanwhile the Department of Agriculture is preparing to sow clover on the unsold land at the eastern side of the area but expects this too, will be disposed of before the end of the present season.

Further readjustment of prices is under consideration by the government today following strong representations from farmers who are intending to reclaim areas in advance of recent drastic price reductions and who are asking for rebates.

A reduction in the existing price of 50 cents an acre to 75 cents for inferior lands would result in the purchase of some 400 acres immediately for tobacco growing, it is understood. But the name of the prospective purchaser was not revealed.

THREE-POWER PACT SETS FLEET TOTALS FOR NEXT SIX YEARS

SETTLE MINOR POINTS

Complete agreement was reached between Great Britain, Japan and the United States at the naval conference to-day and the way is now clear for a three-power pact.

Frederic A. Stansfeld, United States Secretary of State, and R. J. W. Wakatsuki met this morning and cleared the decks by settling the still outstanding minor points.

The last vestiges of hope for a five-power agreement were said not to have been abandoned, but it should be known by to-night whether such a treaty is possible or whether the British, Japanese and United States delegates shall go ahead with a three-power pact.

Shortly after the meeting of the big three delegates, Col. Stimson rushed off to see Foreign Minister Briand of France and at the same time Hugh S. Gibson left to visit Foreign Minister Grandi of Italy. It was understood the chiefs of the two Latin powers are to be informed that Great Britain, Japan and the United States were in complete agreement and to be invited to make their own position known quickly.

Following the procedure agreed upon at the Imperial conference of 1926, the Dominions will sign the projected naval limitation treaty as separate entities.

The draft of the treaty is now being prepared and its signature is expected within a few days.

DRAFTING FIVE-POWER PACT

Naval conference experts were understood to have been put to work this afternoon, drafting a five-power agreement, which both Foreign Ministers Briand of France and Grandi of Italy have tentatively agreed to sign.

This treaty, it was said, will in effect be a comprehensive three-power pact between the United States, Great Britain and Japan, but will include numerous points on which all the five powers are agreed and which France and Italy can sign.

The present plan is that controversial matters between France and Italy will be left out and the clauses which exclusively effect the other three powers will not be involved.

The decision to adopt this procedure was reached this morning after Secretary Stimson had visited Foreign Minister Briand and Hugh S. Gibson had conferred with Foreign Minister Grandi. Briand is said to be enthusiastic over the solution and Grandi has also indicated tentative willingness to sign. The Italians have rather been left out of negotiations recently and Grandi is more about what he is expected to sign before he definitely agrees to put his name to it.

Plan Residence For Overseas Students

London, April 10.—A public appeal will be made shortly for funds for establishment in London of a residential institution for students from the Dominions, to be styled "London House." Sir John Arthur Greenwood, Minister of Health, has announced. The Government intends to grant $125,000 for establishing a post-graduate medical school in London.

SEATTLE TO HOLD FLYING REVELS SOON

Mayor Frank Edwards of Puget Sound City Extends Invitation to Victorians

Large Transport and Mail Planes and Service Flying to Be Seen

A cordial invitation to Victoria citizens to visit Seattle for Air Week, April 21 to 27, is extended by Mayor Frank Edwards, through Mayor Asanah to-day.

An exhibition of aerial manoeuvres by the United States Army Air Corps and spectacular flying by the United States naval planes will be two of the attractions in a week of aviation exhibitions to centre around the Boeing Air Field. The new transport planes, capable of carrying thirty-two passengers, and airmail machines will also be seen on the field and in action.

In his invitation to Victorians Mayor Edwards extends the heartiest greetings of Puget Sounders for a friendly visit across the border during Seattle's Air Week. The display is built around the slogan "Help to make the Northwest air-minded and air-enthusiastic." It is strictly non-union.

To cut the story short, an organizer got by somewhere 1927 (maybe the bakery door was left open) and signed up some of the employees, who paid their dues for a few months and then quit. The organizer seems to have got about the same time. Anyway, he was never seen again.

There is one piece of information, however, that merits investigation. It seems that boys start at the bakers' at $18 a week. This is probably in the "agreements," and to make sure there is a high enough wage on which to levy union dues. There are many unemployed heads of families in Victoria who would be very glad of such a wage.

FIRE DESTROYS HOME ON SALT SPRING ISLAND

Mrs. Ross Young, Suffering From Broken Ankle, Made Escape From Building

Special to The Times

Ganges, April 10.—A disastrous fire occurred on Tuesday afternoon at South Salt Spring Island, near Vesuvius Bay, Salt Spring Island, when the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Young was entirely destroyed. Mrs. Young, who was alone in the house, suffering from the effects of a broken ankle, was able to make her escape. The exact cause of the fire is not known, but it is thought to be owing to a defective chimney. It is understood that only the house and outbuildings were insured, and not the furniture, of which there were some very fine examples of English make. Great sympathy is felt by all for Mr. and Mrs. Young in their loss.

Mrs. W. H. Bond, Ganges Harbor, is spending a few days on the island, registered at Ganges House.

Mrs. W. Bond, Ganges Harbor, returned last night after a week's absence in Victoria, where she was the guest of relatives.

Gerald Hamilton, Isabella Point, South Salt Spring, left on Tuesday for Vancouver, where he will visit friends.

Mrs. Hardy, Ganges Hill, is spending a holiday in Vancouver, leaving on Tuesday on the St. Charles.

Mrs. W. H. Bond and her daughter, Ganges, left on Tuesday to spend a few days in Vancouver.

Mr. and Mrs. Reid Bittancourt, accompanied by their daughter-in-law, Mrs. Loyal Bittancourt, returned to the island on Tuesday after visiting in Victoria for over a week.

Mrs. W. Harvey, Ganges Harbor, is spending a few days at Nanaimo, where she is the guest of Mrs. Archibald.

Mrs. S. W. Hoole, of St. Mary's Lake, is spending a few days at Nanaimo, where she is the guest of Mrs. Archibald.

Miss Daphne Morris has returned from Victoria, and will spend three weeks with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. Case-Morris, at Fernwood, North Salt Spring Island.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ching, of Victoria, are visitors on the island, registered at Harbor House, Ganges.

The annual meeting of the Ganges Tennis Club was held recently at the home of Capt. and Mrs. V. O. Best, the Alton, Ganges Harbor. Officers appointed for the coming season were: President T. F. Speed; vice-president Mrs. V. C. Best; secretary-treasurer V. C. Morris; committee Mrs. H. A. Robinson, Mrs. A. B. Cartwright and Miss D. Moorhouse. It was arranged to hold a military march drive on April 28, for which J. C. Lang, of Fernwood, North Salt Spring Island, has lent his home.

A TIF FOR WALTER

To the Editor:—The letters of Walter Foster of Colquitz in The Times are at times highly interesting. My but they must have been roughly handled by some labor union, or unionists in his no doubt, colorful past.

He should contrive to get himself smuggled into a meeting of one of the local unions—the plumbers, say—when they are debating on a drive for a really worthwhile increase in wages. The flood of winged words and oratory issuing from the mystic cleft at Delphi inspired the Pythones on his trip, and would result in a hymn of praise to the Kaiser against England at the beginning of the war, would show up like a royal flush against a dirty deuce.

J. C. Colquitz, B.C., April 9, 1930.

FAMINE IN CHINA

To the Editor:—Reports of the famine conditions in China are terribly heartrending to read about. We are told no fewer than 2,000,000 people—mostly women and children—have perished of actual lingering starvation last year, and it is estimated by the time the next wheat harvest, another million or more will die. We are told, too, that in some places parents have eaten their children. Disease always follows in the wake of famine, hence the outlook is too horrible to think about.

I understand from inquiries made no efforts have been inaugurated yet in Canada, or locally, to begin relief. What a golden opportunity for the churches to make a move in the matter, or some of the fraternal bodies! We all have a responsibility in this urgent need, and certainly a real opportunity to do something.

ANTHUR HENDER, Victoria, B.C., April 9, 1930.

PRICE OF BREAD

To the Editor:—Letter to the Editor when written in the spirit of fairness makes very good reading, but when Mr. Foster tells us that labor unions are to blame for the high-priced loaf, he is simply spending his time on something he is not well posted on.

BEAUTY CAPITALIZED

To the Editor:—I think I have drawn attention heretofore through your columns to what advanced communities were doing towards early spring beautifying of streets and other public places. Any way let the latest from Washington, D.C., bear witness to the joy and pride of the people of that city in their newest effort to prove the influence of a thing of beauty and their satisfaction from another very important standpoint.

The following press dispatch is self-explanatory:

"Cherry Blooms Attract Crowds to Washington"

"Washington, April 7 (Universal Service).—The capital city famed cherry blossoms fringing the tidal basin attracted a record number of visitors to-day. Not since the inauguration of over a year ago has the city been visited by such thousands."

"Ten excursion trains and extra sections of regular trains brought part of the crowd. Police estimated more than 75,000 automobiles from outside the district had arrived."

The point in it all is for Victorians to find out just what Washington is doing and to proceed to duplicate it. For here is a field of activity in which neither Washington nor the so-called Flowery Kingdom nor any other place can outstrip this southerly end of Vancouver Island.

LABOR AND BREAD

To the Editor:—As a regular purchaser and reader of your paper, I shall be glad if you will favor me with sufficient space in your columns for the following:

I notice that "a certain Walter Foster" is regularly contributing articles to your paper, most of which consist of wholesale condemnation of the working man and his so-called high wages.

To-night he has an article about the bakers, blaming them for the high cost of bread (what bunk!). Who is this "Walter Foster" and what does he do for a living, if anything? Judging from his articles, I should imagine he is a person with a one-way mind and not much of that. When he has finished telling us how the ills of the country are all the fault of the working men and their leaders, we shall be glad to know a little of the other side of the question for example, "how come" a certain rich man, who did make his pile and build himself a yacht, worth about $165,000—all out of ye humble loaf of bread—for which

U.S. ADJUSTING TARIFF RATES

Metal and Wood Sections Before Congress and Senate Committee

Higher Duty on Watches, Furniture and Zinc Ores

Washington, April 10.—Higher tariffs on watches and clocks, bentwood furniture and zinc ores were agreed upon by the Congressional conferees on the tariff bill yesterday as they completed work on the less controversial sections of the metals and wood schedules.

The disputed sugar levies are next in order for the adjusters of the tariff. Differences between the Senate and House, as pledges have been given that the public go on record on these rates before final conference decision is reached. However, they will be deferred and tobacco and agriculture taken up instead.

Differences over proposed duties on silver, logs, lumber and shingles also were left for future decision. The House conference group has promised to let the House vote on the latter two and indications are that no decision will be made on silver until that body has balloted on the item.

The entire sections embracing watches and clocks, the most technical in the entire bill, were rewritten by the conferees.

The changes were described by Senator Smoot, Republican of Utah, as half way between the present rates approved by the Senate and the increased levies voted by the House.

They also were described as being more or less in line with the duties and phraseology originally reported to the Senate by its finance committee.

The duty on bentwood furniture was fixed at 47½ per cent. The present rate of 33½ per cent had been raised by the Senate to 40 per cent and the House to 45 per cent.

The Senate group won its tariff of 1½ cents a pound on the zinc content of all ores, except pyrites containing not over 3 per cent zinc under the present law, ore containing less than 10 per cent zinc are admitted free and above that content the rates range from 1½ to 1½ cents a pound. Other tariffs settled on the metals and wood schedules compared with present duties follow: Steam turbines, 20 per cent, now 30 per cent; all metal machines not specially provided for 27½ per cent, now 30 per cent; all metal articles except those of platinum, gold or silver not specially provided for, 45 per cent, now 40 per cent; forks, hoes and rakes, 30 per cent, now free; spring clothes pins, 20 cents a gross, now 15 cents; aluminum foil less than six one-thousandths of an inch thick, 37½ per cent, now 35 per cent; bronze, English metal or aluminum powder in the leaf, 6 cents per 100 leaves and 10 per cent, now 6 cents; nickel oxide, free, now 1 cent a pound; print rollers, 45 each and 72 per cent, now 50 per cent.

Drills, bits, gimlets, planes, chisels and other cutting tools, 45 per cent, now 30 and 40 per cent.

All restored to the bill were the existing duties on tincl wire, lams or lams, bullions and metals, threads, beltings made of these materials and wire-woven fabrics. All of these rates had been cut in the Senate.

COMMONS GIVES INSURANCE ACT FINAL READING

Writing of Policies on Imaginary Buildings Discussed in House

Ottawa, April 10.—The question of requiring a fire insurance company to ascertain whether a policy purporting to insure such a house will be taken up with the Dominion superintendent of insurance, Hon. C. A. Dunning, Minister of Finance, stated in the Commons yesterday.

If possible the law would be changed to cover certain alleged abuses in this connection.

The complaint came from George Spotton, Conservative, North Huron. He explained to the House that many investors in his riding had trusted their money with a lawyer there to put out on mortgages around Toronto. This lawyer placed them on lots supposed to have substantial buildings on them.

IMAGINARY BUILDINGS The mortgages were returned accompanied by fire insurance policies describing the buildings which the mortgages were supposed to cover. It turned out afterwards that there were no buildings on the lots at all, and as a result people in his constituency lost $750,000.

Mr. Spotton took the position that insurance companies had to some extent been parties to the fraud because the investors had not questioned the existence of the houses when they saw the descriptions in the policies. The companies collected hundreds of dollars of premiums for insuring houses that never existed.

Mr. Dunning, while agreeing that the complaint should be investigated, said he could not give any assurance that the companies concerned were under Dominion law. He suggested that the investors were lax in not making sure whether the residences really existed.

The discussion came up on the omnibus bill making several amendments to the Insurance Act which was passed through committee of the House and given third reading.

GRAIN SEED FOR GREATER AREA

Prices Have Been Reduced to Stimulate Outward Movement

Ottawa, Ont., April 10.—Larger stocks of registered grain seed are available in western Canada this year than ever before, but owing largely to the exigencies of drought in large areas last year, the movement of registered seed stocks outward has been very slow, says a statement issued yesterday by the Department of Agriculture.

This is despite the fact that the new government store in connection with the seed cleaning plant at Moose Jaw is filled to capacity as well as the storage plants of many of the larger dealers in western Canada.

To stimulate the outward movement of registered seed, the prices have been reduced by some companies.

U.S. FIRM HELPS CONSTRUCTION OF VANCOUVER BLOCK

Vancouver, April 10.—To complete financing of the Marine Building here, the Starrett Investment Corporation of New York, has made its first investment in a Canadian skyscraper and to the extent of $1,000,000 in cash, it is announced by Capt. J. W. Hobbs, vice-president of the G. A. Stinson & Co. Limited.

The entrance of the American interests in the building followed the financial crisis in October when the Stinson company found that certain investors who had contracted to take securities for the building were unable to make payments. Under the stimulus of the new investment, construction of the building is proceeding rapidly with 500 men at work and plans laid for opening on July 1. One passenger elevator is already running to the top of the uncompleted tower.

The Starrett Corporation, according to Captain Hobbs, has in recent years completed a billion and a half dollars worth of work in the United States.

A THREE-POWER TREATY

FROM LONDON TO-DAY COMES THE announcement that Great Britain, the United States, and Japan have reached a complete agreement upon the terms of a three-power naval treaty. Efforts will be made to induce France and Italy to join the convention. But the prospect of agreement between these two countries appears to be somewhat remote. France declares she needs 240,000 tons of ships more than Italy; Italy insists upon parity with France, or nothing.

It will be unfortunate if the conference fails to create a five-power pact. This was the objective set for itself. But it has scored an important success if the sum of its efforts is written down in a treaty between Great Britain, the United States, and Japan. It will be possible for these powers, under their agreement, to show to France and Italy and the rest of the world what can be done if nations really make up their minds. And their sincerity is not questioned. A certain section of public opinion in the English-speaking countries and in Japan has been openly sceptical of anything produced by the conference. But it is a minority sentiment and will dwindle as practical results are achieved.

Apart from the purely material aspect of the agreement which has been drawn up between the three powers that are in accord, there is now written on the records of international dealing a useful precedent which the public of all countries understands. Five nations have accepted a new principle of discussion in regard to the delicate question of national defence and its implications. To all intents and purposes it has succeeded on its first major application. It now is permanently available and can not lightly be ignored.

THE RIGHT SPIRIT

AT A TIME WHEN SOME OF OUR people are inclined to be a little pessimistic over the present economic condition throughout the world, it is refreshing to note that our business leaders are freely predicting that Canada's revival will be much quicker than it ever has been before.

An opinion on this subject which should not be regarded lightly comes from Mr. J. J. Gibbons, of Toronto, who heads a prominent advertising agency. Mr. Gibbons, who is now in Vancouver, remarks that "if Canadian business had been as healthy in 1925 as it is to-day, we would have considered ourselves prosperous." Mr. Gibbons also reminds us that there is plenty of money in Canada at the present time, bond sales providing convincing proof of this, while "big companies owe the banks very little."

Economic experts evidently are not at all worried over our country's prospects. Young resourceful countries like Canada do not suffer much from business depression, while in any case, their recuperative powers are invincible.

CANADA'S OCEAN PORTS

CANADA'S SEA-BORNE TRADE SHOWS that the great strides in imports and exports that have been made during the last sixteen years have been the result of a steady and consistent expansion. This expansion is going on all the time, and with it Canadian ports are assuming a correspondingly higher place in world rating.

During 1929 facilities at the various ports were taxed to their utmost; and, with every indication that the trade of the Dominion will continue to increase, considerable activity is now being witnessed in Canada's leading seaports. Construction work with the object of providing increased capacity, and for the remodeling of some harbors, is being carried out; and the years immediately ahead will probably see still more activity in the direction of further development.

According to figures compiled by the Canadian Press, in the port of Montreal alone, imports during 1929 reached the considerable figure of $245,517,953, as against $145,629,791 in 1913. Exports during 1929 amounted to $234,267,995, while for 1913 they were only $73,157,247. Through the five principal ports, Montreal, Vancouver, Saint John, Halifax and Quebec, goods of the value of $378,846,792 came into the country; and the balance of trade in favor of Canada, a total of $430,824,204, left the Dominion as exports.

The following table provides a comparative summary of the value of the import and export trade of Canada in 1913 and 1929 at the five ports mentioned:

Montreal:
Imports.....	$145,629,791	$245,517,953
Exports.....	73,157,247	234,267,995
Vancouver:
Imports.....	43,475,412	77,582,326
Exports.....	91,392,554	180,927,521
Saint John:
Imports.....	9,845,221	15,891,713
Exports.....	25,241,208	55,250,531
Halifax:
Imports.....	12,196,336	22,467,801
Exports.....	14,747,427	41,747,024
Quebec:
Imports.....	14,719,547	17,567,179
Exports.....	8,069,636	31,976,328

Obviously, to enable Canada's seaports to maintain and improve their position in the world's shipping trade, very large expenditures of money are necessary, and in 1928 a sum of altogether $14,000,000 was voted by the Dominion Parliament for work at Quebec, Saint John and Halifax. Of this amount $8,500,000 was hypothecated to Quebec; $5,000,000 to Saint John, and $500,000 to Halifax. All this money has not yet been spent, but it is gradually being absorbed by the improvement and enlargement projects that have been approved.

Subsequently, an additional sum of $27,000,000 was voted, of which $8,000,000 was for Vancouver; $10,000,000 for Montreal; a further $5, 000,000 for Halifax; while $2,000,000 went to Three Rivers and a similar sum to Chicoutimi. Two years ago, this latter port received $2,000,000 for its improvement schemes. Plans have been approved for the expenditure of the money voted, though this will be insufficient to carry them all to a conclusion, and it is clear that each year appropriations will have to be made for the successful handling of increased traffic.

A CREDITABLE SHOWING

IT IS NOT AT ALL SURPRISING THAT last year's report of the operations of the Canadian National Railways discloses a falling off in gross and net revenues as compared with the previous twelve months. Sir Henry Thornton points out that a decrease in revenue from grain shipments of $15,509,311 represents practically the whole decline experienced in freight revenues. The gross earnings for 1929 amount to $259,978,972, compared with $276,383,577 in 1928; the net revenue totaled $45,062,080, compared with $58,383,577 in the previous year.

In any review of the operations of the national system, of course, it is necessary to refer to the progress it has made since the consolidation took place to get a fair idea of conditions then and now. Here are the net earnings from 1922 to the end of last year:

1922—Net earnings, $3,000,000.
1923—Net earnings, $30,000,000.
1924—Net earnings, $17,000,000.
1925—Net earnings, $32,000,000.
1926—Net earnings, $47,000,000.
1927—Net earnings, $42,000,000.
1928—Net earnings, $58,000,000.
1929—Net earnings, $45,000,000.

Under the circumstances the showing for 1929 is a very creditable one. It means that the system has again achieved an operating surplus more than sufficient to meet the interest on its securities in the hands of the public—the fourth consecutive year in which this has been done. And while the net receipts from operation are considerably smaller than in the previous year, they rank third highest in the history of the road.

A WELL-MERITED PROMOTION

CONGRATULATIONS ARE IN ORDER to Mr. N. R. Desbrisay, Vancouver, for the last four years general passenger agent of the Canadian Pacific Railway in British Columbia, upon his promotion to be assistant passenger traffic manager of the company's western lines, with headquarters at Winnipeg.

Although Mr. Desbrisay's headquarters have been in Vancouver, he is well known in Victoria, his frequent conferences with our public bodies and his other activities in the development of traffic to this city having very considerably enlarged the circle of his friends here, whose best wishes will accompany him to Winnipeg.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

SEGRAVE GOES TOO FAST
The Edmonton Journal

Sir Henry Segrave has been fined for speeding. Now, isn't that just like England! Give a man a knighthood for making his car go 231 miles an hour and then fine him for dawdling along at a mere forty-five. And that isn't all. It is not so long ago since he was scolded by a traffic officer for going so slowly in London, as to "obstruct traffic."

THE ENGLISHMAN IN CANADA
The Lethbridge Herald

When we hear of Englishmen failing to make good in farming in Canada, it is well to remember that out of fifteen times in which the Dominion has won the world championship for wheat growing, twelve of these were won by Englishmen. What is more to the point is that they were won by Englishmen who before coming to Canada had no previous experience of farming. There are Englishmen and Englishmen.

PERSECUTION IN RUSSIA
The Manchester Guardian

(Is the persecution in Russia religious or political?) In Russia the Church has been disestablished and, by robbery and other means of the kind employed in England and elsewhere during the wars of religion, has been reduced to a beggary which has not always been held to be a handicap to religion. It is little wonder that a great number of Russian priests are moved by pretty strong resentment against the government which has made them dependent for a livelihood on the alms of their congregations. It is not surprising that some of them have tried to make difficulties for that government, conscious though they must have been of the risks they were running. We may admire their courage, but we need not on that account persuade ourselves that their persecution had other than political motives. Our protest should be one against methods of political oppression, precisely as it would be if the persons oppressed were engineers. The seizure of church property is not religious persecution. No more is the meeting down of churches, blighting though these things may be. We have only to remember Mr. John Bunyan's views of bell-ringing to perceive that bells and religion are not identical.

CONSUMERS NEEDED
Henry E. Spencer, M.P. (Bathurst River) in House of Commons March 6, 1930

In the last hundred years we have advanced tremendously in the matter of industry; we have revolutionized the production of goods, but during that last hundred years we have carried on with an old credit system that has all right in the old days but which does not fit our conditions of to-day. As long as we stay with this policy of exchange that is out of date, then just so long shall we have before us the very serious problem of getting rid of the goods that are produced. Various suggestions have been made for the solving of this problem. Some suggest the elimination of that if war did break out few people would be killed in a given time; but if you take the people away from the making of goods, in the way of armaments, you increase more and more the number of unemployed. Another way to solve the problem is to get rid of people. Great Britain is doing her level best to migrate her people. The United States is doing her very best to keep people from coming into her country. The matter of birth control has also been suggested, and yet none of these seem to me to be a solution of the problem.

In summing up, Mr. Speaker, I would say that peace is largely a matter of consumption. When we have solved the problem of consumption, made it possible for the people of the world to enjoy the goods of the world, which they are doing to-day only to a very small extent—we will get rid of the miseries of war and poverty and crime, and all those things that are detrimental to any nation, even to our own.

A THOUGHT

For the wages of sin is death.—Romans vi 23.
Sin is essentially a departure from God.—Luther.

Loose Ends

Mr. Ludwig performs a post-mortem on pre-war Europe—finds that it was murdered by those it trusted—and gives the post-war world a warning.

By H. B. W.

THE WORLD, judging by the present avalanche of war books, is busy at this time trying to analyze and appraise the events of twelve years ago, as it could not do while it was living them. In this very necessary process nothing that has come off the presses of any country, one venture to think, will equal in real usefulness Emil Ludwig's great work, "July, '14," published last year and now being read in many languages. It would be a fine thing, indeed, if "July, '14" could be read by every high school boy and girl in the world, as well as by the adult population, for if the facts contained in it were everywhere understood, a repetition of what happened in that amazing month of July, 1914, probably would never be possible again.

IT IS difficult to conceive of the secret events leading to the Great War being more graphically, briefly and yet more fully recounted than in Mr. Ludwig's book. It moves with the swiftness of a novel to a climax which no novel could hope to equal. It is written in that personal, intimate style which already has given Mr. Ludwig his reputation. And, coming from a German, it is so critically fair and unbiased that no Britisher can fail to admire the courage of it.

IT IS ANYONE's think that this book is propaganda of the late enemy, perhaps it should be said at the outset that Mr. Ludwig distributes responsibility for the Great War over all Europe, blames his own country unmercifully, and in every event credits the British Empire, with the highest motives of honor and the strongest desire for peace.

NO MATTER how much you may know about the origin of the war, "July, '14" is guaranteed to reveal many things that will amaze you. For Mr. Ludwig seems to have had free access to documents, secret letters and telegrams which, if they had been published in 1914, would surely have averted the war altogether. He shows at the outset, for instance, that when Austria decided to deal with Serbia for the assassination of the heir to its throne, Germany was entirely ignorant of her ally's real designs. Consequently, the Kaiser went yachting while Austria was preparing its note to Serbia, and allowed the Austrian Government a blank cheque, pledging Germany's support to anything it cared to do. This was the fatal blunder which precipitated the whole conflagration. Had Germany realized how far Austria was in the attempt to annex Serbia, probably the Great War could never have happened.

THE PEOPLE of the world, who were about to pay the price for all this, of course, had no idea of the conspiracy which half a dozen reckless noblemen were hatching in Vienna. They could not know, for example, that the German Government was staggered when it read Austria's ultimatum to Serbia—after it was too late; that the Kaiser, on seeing Serbia's conciliatory reply, wrote on margin of it that, "with it every reason for war drops away"; that because Austria was determined on war anyway, the Austrian Ambassador in Serbia, on receiving Serbia's reply to the ultimatum, did not even read it fully, but handed back Austria's rejection within thirty-five minutes, though the Serbian document would have taken a full hour to read; that Austria declared war on Serbia without the knowledge of Germany, which at that very moment was instructing its ambassadors to mediate and avoid hostilities.

THE STORY of the lying and cheating by the dozen diplomats who held the destiny of Europe in their hands at this juncture would be incredible if Mr. Ludwig did not present the documents proving everything he says. Thus he reveals that the Austrian foreign minister, Count Berchtold, who plays the most dastardly part of all in the events, actually lied to his Emperor by telling him that Serbian troops already had fired on Austrians. This declaration was included in Austria's declaration of war as presented to the Austrian Emperor for signature, but no sooner had he got away from the palace than Count Berchtold deleted these words from the document before sending it, because he knew his lie would be quickly discovered.

FROM THEN on the comings and goings of the diplomats, their journeys back and forth across Europe, their code telegrams and long-distance telephone conversations, their personal jealousies, imagined insults and dinner-table whisperings, would be entirely ludicrous, as revealed by Mr. Ludwig, if they had not involved the world in disaster. Thus we find Russia in the grip of a great strike, proposed by the army to embark on war and avoid revolution, the weak Czar striving desperately for peace, but finally forced to order mobilization. We find him getting out of bed on the fatal night of July 29 to rush to the telephone and order demobilization in a last effort to forestall war. And then we find the minister of war secretly instructing the general staff to pay no attention to the Czar and to go on mobilizing anyway.

MEANWHILE GERMANY, scared by the danger of Britain's participation, makes a final desperate attempt at peace. The Kaiser, signing himself "Wilhelm," wires to "Nicky," the Czar, at 6 a.m. on July 29 a plan of mediation, and, incredible as it seems, the German ambassador in St. Petersburg refuses to consider this later development because he has already been instructed to declare war and has packed up to go home! In Berlin, on August 1, the Kaiser, still hoping to keep Britain neutral, actually orders all his armies to be sent east against Russia instead of Belgium. Von Moltke, the chief of staff, his dream of conquest threatened, goes home and weeps all evening and then persuades the Kaiser that an army once set in motion westward cannot go eastward!

KIRK COAL CO.

"Does Last Longer"

Phone 130 1224 Broad St.

THE LAST hope of peace thus is wrecked by the generals. The generals are in control now everywhere but in London. Governments are powerless. Diplomats are in the hands of soldiers. The war machine, prepared for a generation, is in motion, and nothing can stop it but ruin. The process of the masses in the continental nations, of course, is unheeded. In Germany huge anti-war meetings are broken up. The army announces to the newspapers that the war is on before mobilization has actually been ordered. In Russia workers who dare to demonstrate against war are shot down in the streets. In France similar demonstrations are discouraged and Jaures, the great Socialist who has been striving for peace, is assassinated.

BRITAIN'S PART in all this is handled with rare insight by Mr. Ludwig. He declares at the outset that Britain did everything in her power to prevent the war, but by showing the secret reactions of Paris, Berlin, St. Petersburg and Vienna, he suggests that Britain's refusal to commit herself one way or the other until the last minute was a mistake—although with the very best intentions. And Germany known at the end of July that Britain would defend world peace with secret documents to prove this contention, it would not have risked war. But not until it was too late was Britain's attitude made clear. Then the cataclysm was beyond recall.

YOU MAY ask what use there is in such a post mortem. There is a great use, and it is this: "July, '14" shows more clearly than any other book yet published just how helpless the peoples of the world have been in the grip of a few cowardly and disabused men, who, without informing anyone what they were doing, or rather by lying to their countries and their governments, could plunge all the world into the flames of continental Europe. The book is useful because it shows that in every phase of these events war have been utterly impossible known what gold-brained, top-hatted and crooked diplomats were doing in their name. Over these men Sir Edward Grey towered like a mountain in honesty of purpose.

MEANWHILE, SAYS Mr. Ludwig, if the people of Europe find these things out now they will realize at last that their families, their homes and their happiness were destroyed "to no purpose for the criminal frivolity of a few counts in Vienna, for the headlessness of German statesmen, for the ambitions of Russian archbishops, the nervous weakness of crowned cousins, for men who were great only in one thing—in the means by which they betrayed and destroyed the unsuspecting millions." And he adds that "not one of the names which sounded Europe's declaration of war, directly or indirectly, will be found in a casualty list. The people of Europe paid the bill with nine million corpses."

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO TO-DAY

The Victoria Daily Times, April 10, 1905

A party of veterans of the Manchurian war arrived this morning on the C.P.R. steamer Athenian. They have been in the hospital in Shanghai, a number of them having been wounded, and they are going now to St. Petersburg.

Weather Forecast—Victoria and Vicinity—Northerly and easterly winds, continued fair to-day and Tuesday, with frost to-night.

The Empire Cannery is no longer a mere prospect; it is a reality. On April 20, it will be in operation. It is a reality, as we know, to run by that date, but the institution will, nevertheless, be busy. Preparations have first to be made, and in the next few months the cannery will be manufacturing tins. In the meanwhile the new traps, to be worked at conjunction, will be in the course of erection. The Empire Cannery stands in one of the most convenient locations on Esquimalt Harbor. It is projected by J. H. Todd & Sons and William Munroe.

The recent reduction of the rate for passage on the steamships Athenian and Tartar has been very effective. In January the C.P.R. applied second cabin passenger rates to saloon accommodation on the two vessels mentioned. Now, therefore, people may travel in style across the Pacific for the same amount of money they would have to expend for second-class berths on board the Empress liners. The second-class rate on the Empress is $100 either to or from the Orient, and that is now the first-class fare on the Athenian and Tartar.

Arriving yesterday from Skagway and Port Simpson, the C.P.R. steamer Prince George, which, some days ago, reported to have lost a blade of her propeller, went around to Esquimalt this morning to go on the marine railway.

The annual meeting of the British Columbia Lacrosse Association held in the Driford Hotel Saturday evening gives excellent promise for the ensuing season. The meeting was a representative one, attended by the following: J. W. Suckling, president; Secretary S. Peale, and J. G. Brown, Geo. Smider, Thos. Hooper and Rev. W. W. Bolton of Victoria; C. A. Quigley, M. J. Barr and H. Godfrey of Vancouver; C. A. Welch, A. W. Gray and F. A. Lynch of New Westminster, and E. Milne, H. E. Kennedy and L. York of Seattle.

Utility Holdings Abroad Doubled

New York, April 10.—The Journal of Commerce to-day says that the list of American companies with important utility holdings in foreign lands has almost doubled within the last year. The Journal explains it is expected that this tendency will continue to grow, inasmuch as foreign countries present a greater field for expansion than the American field. It was announced yesterday that Public Utility Holdings Corporation had acquired control of a South American company and it was reported that the result interests may shortly acquire an Italian utility.

SASKATCHEWAN LAND TRANSFER BILL IN HOUSE

Discussion on Return of Un-alienated Resources in Ottawa To-day

World Court Protocol and Canada Coal Policy Before
Commons

Canadian Press
Ottawa, Ont., April 10.—The bill to ratify the agreement between the Dominion Government and the Government of Saskatchewan transferring the unalienated natural resources of Saskatchewan to the provincial government was introduced in the House of Commons yesterday and given first reading.

The difference between this agreement and the one made with Alberta, Hon. Charles Stewart, Minister of Interior, explained, was a clause providing for submission of certain questions to the courts. This litigation will not delay the transfer of the resources. They will be handed over as soon as the agreement is ratified by parliament and approved by the Imperial Parliament.

C. H. Cahan, Conservative, St. Lawrence-St. George, said he understood arrangements were to be made to insert a similar provision in the agreement with Alberta. He asked if this would entail revision of the agreement or a new agreement.

Mr. Stewart explained that no new agreement would be required. It was simply a question of extending to Alberta the same privilege of referring these questions to the court, and the object would be accomplished by an amendment to the Alberta bill. The House will discuss the agreement tomorrow when the second reading will be proceeded with.

PERMANENT COURT
Approval of Canada's action in signing the optional clause in the statute of Permanent Court of International Justice, was general. Hon. Hugh Guthrie, Conservative member for South Wellington, who was leading the opposition in the absence of Hon. E. B. Bennett, expressed his personal view that the House should not hesitate in passing the motion for ratification.

C. H. Cahan, Conservative member for St. Lawrence-St. George, approved the reservations, and emphasized the importance to Canada of the United States also signing the optional clause. Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Minister of Justice, asserted that there must be keen satisfaction in Canada that the United States had accepted the Permanent Court of International Justice. Canada had been a pioneer in respect to the court and the League of Nations, he declared.

The acceptance of the optional clause providing for the compulsory jurisdiction of the permanent court would prove a very great advantage, particularly if it were accepted also by the United States, Mr. Cahan declared. Canada was keenly interested in the course followed by the United States in respect to this question. This was a small Dominion, living neighbor to a great nation which was proud of its overwhelming financial and industrial power.

It would be a great relief to Canada if the United States would agree to submit to the permanent court questions in dispute between them. The United States was the country with which Canada had the most international relations. Canada would be unable, either through military or naval forces, to protect herself if the United States decided to adopt the policy of aggression against this country.

It was hard to understand, Mr. Cahan went on, how a country which had presented the Kellogg Pact to the nations of the world could refuse finally to accept the compulsory jurisdiction of the permanent international court.

Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Minister of Justice, said he was glad to see one thing on which Mr. Cahan agreed with the Government.

FUEL POLICY
The question of a national fuel policy for Canada was brought up in the House of Commons in a series of questions propounded by T. L. Church, Conservative, Toronto-Northwest, Mr. Church inquired:

1. What steps have been taken to carry out a resolution which passed the House of Commons in 1925-27 for a national coal supply by which all coal would be mined and coked under the British flag, whether for Wales, Nova Scotia or Alberta?

2. Has the attention of the Government been called to allegations made of "sweated labor" regarding coal for Canada from Russia made in the House of Commons, London, on April 7, by Sir Newton Moore, Richmond?

3. What steps does the Government propose to take regarding contracts for Russian coal coming into Canada to insure the carrying out of the terms of the aforesaid resolution for a national coal supply, and to prevent Russian coal displacing shipments of Welsh anthracite?

4. Is the Government aware that 25,000 tons of Russian coal have recently been sold to a Montreal firm, displacing coal mined and coked under the British flag?

Hoover Opposes
Higher Tariff
Against Canada

Washington, D.C., April 10 (By Ken Clark, Canadian Press Staff Correspondent)—President Hoover is reported to be dissatisfied of greatly raising the trade barriers against Canada. While a joint committee of the House and the Senate proceeds in cold-blooded fashion to arrive at an agreement upon high tariff rates the administration, which was to consider international sentiment is not too comfortable about the Hawley-Smoot bill. Some officials are of the opinion that a direct affront has been offered to Canada by restoration of the countervailing duties upon such items as coal and logs. Incidentally it is understood that the attention of the state department has been directed to the action of the courts in ruling against the British Columbia export tax, on logs.

MANNERS MOST EASILY TAUGHT BY EXAMPLE

One would think that "manners" would have no yesterday or to-day, but this is true in only a limited sense. In manners, as in everything else, we mirror the age in which we live and we cannot apply the manners of a past generation to present-day children and expect anything but a result that is "affected" and unnatural.

Mrs. T. E. H. says: "My mother thinks it terrible the way children speak to their parents these days. The teacher tells them that it is all right to say 'yes' and 'no,' but mother thinks that unless they say 'yes, ma'am' and 'no, sir,' they are not showing respect. How James, J. Barstiat, A. Sadler, J. McKay and First President J. M. Hughes for twenty-one years' membership in the order.

RESPECT EMBODIED IN TONE

We can understand your mother's feeling about this, for in her day the failure to include "ma'am" or "sir" after every speech indicated a rude and unmannerly child. Manners, after all, are purely superficial. They really indi-cate very little, and respect for one's parents is not measured by any such means. The child who says "yes" may say it in a manner that is as deferential

"Missionary Activity in World Rela-tion." The address was greatly en-joyed and proved both interesting and instructive. During the evening a solo was rendered by Mrs. Febernast, en-titled "Were You There?" and the male quartette sang "Prayer Perfect." The meeting closed with the hymn "The Day Thou Gavest," and the benedic-tion.

COLLEEN MOORE PLANS DIVORCE

Has Separated From John McCormick, Film Producer

Los Angeles, April 10.—John Mc-Cormick, film producer, confirmed yesterday the announcement made by his wife, Colleen Moore, screen star, that they had separated, but declined to elaborate on it.

"Yes, it is true we have separated, but I think all statements should come from her," McCormick said. "I am going to San Francisco in a day or two, and will have nothing to say on the subject."

Miss Moore, who married McCor-mick in 1923 while he was western representative for First National Pic-tures and she was under contract to the company, declared, "there is no chance of a reconciliation." She said she expects to file suit for divorce within two or three weeks probably charging incompatibility.

South African Women May Yet Get Franchise

Canadian Press Cable via Reuters

Capetown, South Africa, April 10.—The European women of the Union of Southern Africa may soon share with their sisters of England and other Anglo-Saxon countries in the right to vote, but first a bill to extend to them the franchise must pass the Union Senate, and the Senate is said to be in a reluctant frame of mind.

The enfranchisement bill has passed the committee stage of the House of Assembly. It provides for registration of all European women of the age of twenty-one years and over as voters at federal, provincial and municipal elections.

Metchosin Women's Institute Leaders In Special Session

Special to The Times

A special meeting of the directors and special committee of the Metchosin Women's Institute was held on Tuesday afternoon at the home of the vice-president, Mrs. G. P. Waide. Members present were Mrs. McVicker, president; Mrs. Witty, Mrs. Meredith-Jones, Mrs. Waide, Mrs. Taylor, Mrs. C. Helgesen and Mrs. E. R. Johnson.

The correspondence read included letters from the Queen Alexandra So-larism regarding the sewing for the patients and the report from the Travelers' Aid Society of the Y.W.C.A. A letter was read from the British Empire Service League asking for aid with their tag day on April 19 for funds to help service men. The letter was filed. A letter was also received from the provincial board re the per-capita fees for federated funds, and the secretary read a letter from the Salva-tion Army. This will be taken up later.

Sweet pea seed from Professor Straight of the Experimental Farm was distributed among those present, and the secretary will give at the first opportunity seed to those members not present at the meeting. It was an-nounced that the Layritz Nurseries had promised to give rose bushes as prizes at the bulb show. Mrs. Meredith-Jones and Mrs. Johnson, who had as-delegates from the Metchosin W.I. at-tended the meeting of the Farmers' In-stitute, reported that several changes had been made in the prize list of the fair to be held at Luxton on Sep-tember 10. It was proposed that a cafeteria lunch be held, that more classes and varieties of apples and potatoes should be included, that sev-eral changes in the classes for cookery and domestic science be made, and that all entries over ten made by one person be free, the first ten entries by one person only be charged for.

Final arrangements for the bulb and spring flower show to be held at Met-chosin Hall on Wednesday, April 23, were completed.

John Hutchison has consented to judge the exhibits, and special prizes include four gardening books given by the Department of Agriculture, rose bushes from the Layritz Nurseries and some also given by Miss Savory, and prizes given by Mrs. C. Helgesen, Mrs. H. S. Jordan, Mrs. McVicker, Mrs. Waide, Mrs. Taylor, H. G. Pearce and others.

There will be home cooking and candy stalls, ice cream and afternoon tea will be served, and a health ex-hibit will be on display, of which interesting and attractive posters pre-pared by the school children will be a feature of local interest. At the conclusion of the meeting at-ternoon tea was served by Mrs. Waide. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Meredith-Jones on Wed-nesday, May 7.

St. Joseph's W.A.—The ladies' auxiliary to St. Joseph's Hospital will hold their regular monthly meeting in the sewing room at the hospital on Friday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock.

TWO SIDES TO THE SPRING HAT QUESTION

A flattering black panama hat for the black daytime dress effects a charming compromise in its wide brim, by having one side wide and pleated and the other shorter but slightly full and waving with a bow of satin ribbon marking its outer edge at the side back. Its shallow crown and the way its brim is draped to lift off the forehead are two of the outstanding style facts of the new hats.

First Definite Steps Are Taken to Bring Carnera to Victoria

THE SPORTS MIRROR

Giant Heavyweight May Show n Bout At Crystal Garden

SOME new idea is always cropping up in golf teaching, and Walter Pursey, well-known Seattle professional, has introduced a new and novel scheme. Pursey is using a movie camera to emphasize his instruction. Not merely to illustrate how the club is swung right as we have all seen Bobby Jones do it in slow-motion pictures, but also to show the pupil how it is done wrong, as demonstrated by himself. By taking the movie record of the pupil's swing, and running the picture through a projector that can be stopped and turned back at will, Pursey can let the player see himself as others see him and point out faults to be corrected. The projector enlarges the figure to about half of life size.

After winning the Stanley Cup recently members of the Montreal Canadiens returned to all parts of the Dominion. Aurel Jolas, who has become quite thin, is recuperating at his camp on the Gatineau, where he will be joined by Frank Bouvier of the Montreal Canadiens, who has been in Ottawa. Nick Wasmie has gone to his farm at Selkirk to grow grain, and George Mantha has returned to his home in Montreal with the Bell Telephone Company. Mondou will work on the race tracks and perfect himself in golf, in which he hopes to shine some day. Larochele goes to Sorel to wait till the horse races start, when he will work at the tracks. Carson goes to his fruit farm at Grimsby, and Givens is now in Winnipeg engaged in his favorite pastime, when not playing hockey. Mechanics. Hainsworth has returned to his electrical business at Kitchener, and Albert Leduc will pass the summer in Valleyfield. Sylvio Mantha is to get married and Bert McCaffrey will sell automobiles in Toronto. Mary Burke also goes there to help her father who is in the butcher business. Howie Morens is spending a few weeks with his family in Stratford.

Yesterday we picked the New York Giants to win the National League pennant this season and now we will give you the reasons why. As carefully as a general before an impending attack McGraw has gone over his lines some. He is closely studying the moves of two men who are competing for second base. He considers the possibility of an outfield without the services of Ed Rousch. He scans his young pitchers—Parmelee, Heving and Ray Lucas—and in his mind compares the number of games they might win from National League sluggers.

In discussing Francis Healy, eighteen-year-old catcher with the Giants this season, McGraw had the following to say: "I don't think that kid is a catcher—a great catcher—going to be one of the greatest." Asked whether he thought his 1930 battle line had enough punch to win the season, McGraw said: "Well, we ought to win more ball games this year than we won last. We were 13½ games out of first place when the season closed last year. Larry Benton, who ought to win 20 games, won only 11 and 17. Hubbell and Walker ought to win 40 games between them. Last year they won 22."

"I've got more pitching strength this year. Healy and Jones and Loeas are all young pitchers and they look like they're going to help us. I'm going to keep those fellows around a long time, and I'm going to give them a chance. First, shortstop and third are settled, with Terry Jackson and Lindstrom. Andy Reese and Eddie Marshall have to decide second base for themselves. The outfield isn't bothering me. Looks like Ott, Fullea and Leach. Johnny Mostil's ankle is coming around all right."

Since John McGraw took over the management of the Giants in 1902 the team has never won more than five years without winning a pennant. Last year was the fifth year since McGraw took over the pennant in the National League. From 1921 to 1924 the Giants finished in number one position. Before that there were three years when the team finished second. Only twice in 26 years in the National League has McGraw had a second-place finish. Finishing fifth once and eighth once. According to past performances McGraw is due for another championship. On paper the team seems to be the equal of any in the league. However, the races are not decided that way.

TWO U.S. GOLF STARS WILL NOT GO TO BRITAIN

New York, April 10.—Johnny Farrell and Gene Sarazen have decided definitely not to join the golfing invasion of Great Britain this year. The two metropolitan stars have signed vaudeville contracts calling for appearances in Chicago and Detroit in May, thereby eliminating any prospect of their crossing in time for the British open championship, which begins June 16 at Hoylake.

Sarazen was runner-up to Walter Hagen in the 1928 British open and Farrell was second last year. Some time ago Hagen, now in Australia, decided not to defend the British crown, he has captured four times altogether. Despite these defections the United States contingent will present a strong threat with Horton Smith and Leo Diegel, the two stars, in addition to Bobby Jones, captain of the Walker Cup golf team and present holder of the United States open title. Jones won the British open in 1926 and 1927. Several of his amateur teammates also are likely to play in the open.

Italian, Who Has Started Boxing World With Fourteen Successive Knockouts, May Fight Here Towards End of Month Under Promotion of Billy Davies; Is Now En Route North to Perform at Portland and Seattle.

First definite steps to bring Primo Carnera, giant Italian heavyweight, to Victoria were made this morning by Billy Davies, local boxing promoter. Billy has received word from Bobby Evans, Portland boxing commissioner who is handling the Pacific Northwest tour of the "Man Mountain," that he would most likely be able to give the Victoria promoter a date. Carnera is now en route north, having fought in Los Angeles on Tuesday night, and it is expected he will appear in Portland and Seattle towards the end of the month. He would be brought to Victoria following his appearance in Seattle.

VETS FALL BY WAYSIDE IN TOURNEY

Compston, Herd, Taylor and Vardon Fail to Qualify in Pro Tournament

R. W. Jimbe Sets Course Record of 64 to Lead Field; Use New Clubs

London, April 10.—With steel-shafted golf clubs made hush-hush for British competition for the first time, every professional carried at least one in his bag at the annual Rochester Invitation professionals' tournament yesterday. They used these and other clubs to such effect over the short course in the London suburbs that distance and par were annihilated, and some competitors with even fours for thirty-six holes failed to qualify for match play to-day.

Reginald Whitcombe, youngest of the trio of golfing brothers, and the only one to make the final, broke 64. Gus Faulkner had previously smashed the course record with a 65, but his triumph was short-lived, as Whitcombe came in soon after with 64. Henry Cotton, recently returned from a visit to South America, shared the runner-up position with W. T. Twine, each scoring 136. VETERANS FALL DOWN
Archie Compston required 145 strokes and failed to qualify, as did the veterans Alex. Herd, J. H. Taylor and Harry Vardon.

Sonnenberg Wins In Straight Falls From Portlander

Portland, Ore., April 10.—Gus Sonnenberg, recognized in many states as world's heavyweight wrestling champion, defeated Ted Thye, Portland mat man, in two straight falls here yesterday evening, to win the main attraction of the wrestling card. Sonnenberg weighed 200 pounds against Thye's 168.

Sonnenberg won the first fall in thirty-five minutes and fifteen seconds with a series of headlocks and flying tackles. He required less than five minutes to spread Thye's shoulders on the mat for the second fall with a flying headlock.

Wednesday League Football Eleven's Battle to 3-3 Score; Bays Win By Default

Navy Still Lead League By Two-point Margin; Meet Hudson's Bay Next Week

Scoring three goals in the last twenty-five minutes earned the Navy a 3-3 draw with Saanich United in the only Wednesday League soccer match played yesterday afternoon at the Royal Park. In the other scheduled game the Hudson's Bay gained, two points by default from Bachelors, who were unable to field a team.

The Navy are still leading the league by a two-point margin over the Bays. Next week the Navy will meet, and a win for the Navy will give them a four-point advantage. However, the Hudson's Bay have two postponed games to play and two victories would put them on even terms with the Navy, making a play-off necessary to decide the league championship.

Yesterday's match was productive of anything but good football. Saanich forced to play with nine men for part of the game and ten men the remainder, scored their three goals before the Navy broke the ice. The Navy without the service of Bykes, their centre half, appeared disorganized and failed to display the form that has carried them to the top of the league standing.

VICTORIA HIGH PLAYS NANAIMO

School Football Teams Will Meet Saturday in Thomson Cup Final

After weeks of extensive training, Victoria High School's soccer team will get their acid test on Saturday morning when they oppose Nanaimo High School in the Thomson Cup final. The local lads are in fine shape, and Coach Roper predicts that the High School trophy will spend the next twelve months on the shelves of the local school.

After much weeding out of players, Roper has practically decided on his line-up for Saturday, and if it is as good on the field as it appears on paper they should win the game. In goal the High School will be strong with Alf Hood, an experienced custodian between the sticks. In front of Hood, Hallock and McKenna will line up with the half line composed of Patrick Lund and Kennedy. Right wing is the only position not yet decided upon, with Cole and Trane still fighting it out for the place. Playing inside on the side of the field will be Horace Dawson, while Harry Younan will hold down the centre-forward position. On his left Art Chapman and Laird will play. This gives Victoria High a good line-up.

The game will be played at the Royal Athletic Park starting at 12 o'clock.

John Dawson and George Voight, Defending Champions, Are Also Winners

Pinehurst, N.C., April 10.—C. Ross Somerville of London, Ont., who tied with Johnny Dawson, Chicago, for medalist honors, and George Voight, youthful New Yorker, emerged winners in the headline first-round championship matches yesterday in the thirtieth annual North and South amateur golf tournament.

Somerville registered a three and one victory over T. S. Teller of New York, while Voight defeated W. C. Fowles Jr., a Pittsburgh star, by a three and two victory.

Dawson was scheduled to meet James T. Hunter of North Adams, Mass., but during the day a question was raised regarding his amateur status. He volunteered to withdraw and a default was put up for him pending settlement of the question.

Eugene Homans of Englewood, N.J., Georgetown University star, stimulated the interest of Southern Finns, a Princeton golfer, 3 and 2. J. A. Fowles of Pittsburgh ousted J. B. Stevens of Chicago, 3 and 2. J. S. Ryerson of Coopersville, N.Y., made it 3-2, while Tommy Watt netted their third goal a few minutes before then.

Los Angeles Chalk Up Second Win to Take League Lead

Angels Are Only Pacific Coast League Ball Team to Boast 1,000 Per Cent in Standings; Five Sluggers Pole Out Home Runs in Four Games; Seals Toss Seattle for 10-2 Loss; Missions Take Hard-earned Victory From Sacramento.

San Francisco, April 10.—The Pacific Coast League baseball season entered its third day to-day. Los Angeles Angels were the only team of the eight in the loop able to boast 1,000 per cent in the standing. Ed Baecht, hurling great ball for Los Angeles, took Portland down the line for the Ducks' second straight loss, 9 to 2, in the southern city yesterday.

LINEHAM IN FINE ROUND AT COLWOOD

Negotiates Difficult Course in Brilliant 72 in Par Competition

Plays Perfect Golf on Last Nine; Par 70 Has Been Equaled Twice

Playing in the men's monthly par competition Harold Lineham, crack Colwood golfer, turned in a brilliant round yesterday afternoon. Lineham negotiated the difficult Colwood course in 72, two over par figures. He finished two up on par with his handicap of three.

Although Lineham turned in such a fine round he was tied with T. D. Hodgins for first place. Lineham reached the turn in 57, one over par, but completed the last nine in perfect figures.

Par for the course has been equaled twice, once by Water Pursey, Seattle pro, and the second time by Bill Savory, Seattle amateur.

Lineham got pars on the first and second holes, but three-putted the third and required a five, one over par. He picked up another perfect figure by getting a three on the fourth. After hitting a beautiful drive on the dog-leg fifth, the Colwood star met hard luck when his second shot, a brute, hit the sturdy oak tree on the left. His next shot caught a gaping trap where he took two to get out and then two putts for his seven.

He played the sixth perfectly and then snatched a birdie two on the short seventh. The eight and ninth were parred.

On the tenth he was on the green in two, but here again three-putted for a five. He went one over par by taking a four on the eleventh. Lineham managed another perfect hole on the twelfth and gained his second birdie by caging a three on the thirteenth. He finished with 4, 4, 4, for his brilliant round.

PITTSBURGH TRADES ACE

Burleigh Grimes Sent to Boston For Percy Lee Jones and Some Cash

Boston, April 10.—The trading of Burleigh Grimes, Pittsburgh pitcher, who has been a holdout all spring, to the Boston Braves for Percy Lee Jones, a left-handed pitcher, and a large cash consideration was announced here yesterday by Emil Fuchs, president of the Boston National League club. Grimes, right-handed ace of the Pirates' pitching staff, refused to join the club at the training camp this spring when his demands for a two-year contract calling for a $20,000 salary were refused by the Pittsburgh club officials.

President Fuchs refused to give the exact figures of the cash consideration involved in the Grimes deal, but said it was the second largest sum the Braves had ever paid for a player. Two years ago Fuchs said he gave the New York Giants $100,000 for Rogers Hornsby, whom he later traded to the Chicago Cubs.

Jones came from the Cubs in the Hornsby trade last year and had a poor season with the Braves. The Braves are making a conference here between Grimes and Fuchs. They came to an agreement with the Pittsburgh club by telephone.

"Rocky" Brooks To Give Strong Man Exhibition

A novel exhibition will be put on to-morrow afternoon and evening by "Rocky" Brooks, who is being advertised as the Victoria "Strong Man." Brooks will attempt to hold four horses of 1,000 pounds apiece, with two teams pulling in opposite directions. For his exhibition Brooks will use pure manila rope one and one-half inches in diameter. Brooks weighs 172 pounds and is twenty-one years of age. The exhibition will be held on Blanshard Street, near Yates Street, at 3:30 o'clock and 6:15 o'clock. A collection will be made for the proceeds to go to the Solarium.

The San Francisco Seals evened things with Seattle here, 10 to 2, Jimmy Zinn, pitching his first game for the Seals, allowed only four hits. Seattle used four hurlers.

The other San Francisco team, the Missions, copped a hard-earned victory from the Senators at Sacramento, 4 to 2. Ray Keating, veteran Sacramento spit-ball artist, allowed only five hits. Herman Pillette, pitching for the Missions, had the Senators sluggers fooled.

NINTH INNING RALLY
Oakland won from Hollywood at Oakland only by a ninth-inning rally, the score was 8 to 7. Derivious, Oakland shortstop, scored Verges on a single to decide the contest.

Home runs were fairly plentiful in the day's contests and the great circuit-clouters were Boreas, Seattle; Crockett, San Francisco; Verges, Oakland; Martin, Oakland, and Moore, Los Angeles.

Los Angeles, April 10.—The Angels made it two straight over Portland yesterday by walloping the Beavers in a one-sided contest 9-2. Ed Baecht, on the mound for Los Angeles, held Portland to seven scattered hits and pitched shutout ball through the third inning.

Los Angeles sewed up the contest in the third when Walters was driven from the box and the locals continued their rally at the expense of Casarelli, second Beaver moundman, to make five runs.

Keating and Harmony Gain Finals in Hoop Series

Kersey's Baskets In Dying Moments Beat High School

Suburbanites Enter Final Round of "Y" Knockout Series by 24-22 Victory Over Students; Harmony Pull Surprise of Season by Nosing Out Red Birds, 16-15; Finals Scheduled Saturday Night; Keating to Play "Y" While Harmony Meet J.B.A.A. Women.

Ray Kersey's two baskets in the dying moments of the game gave Keating a 24-22 win over the fast-traveling High School quintette in the feature game of yesterday evening's Y.M.C.A. knockout semi-finals. In the other knockout semi-finals played the Harmony girls pulled a big surprise by taking Bill Erickson's Red Birds into camp by 16-15. Keating and Harmony now enter the finals of this series, the former opposing the Y.M.C.A. and the latter the J.B.A.A. These two games, in addition to the Peden-Duncan A men's final, will be played on Saturday.

In the opening game the Jolly Rogers defeated the Lindes 28-16, thereby taking the series for junior "Y" honors by a total of twenty-three points. The Jollies held an eleven-point lead when they stepped on the floor yesterday evening.

In the feature game the High opened fast and rolled in six points before the suburbanites counted. With this lead to work on the students seemed confident of victory and at the last interval they were holding a 12-9 advantage.

Starting the second half with a rush Keating went on the offensive. For many minutes they had hard luck with their shots, and it was not until five minutes from time that they drew even at twenty all. The score remained unchanged until two minutes were left to play, when Kersey went through for two baskets. High School called time out, and finding that it was only fifty seconds from time threw everything on the offensive. Chapman scored the last basket of the game immediately after the tip-off, but Keating held the ball when the final whistle sounded.

The teams and individual scores follow: Keating—Michael 10, Emmert 8, Bates, B. Cichell, Kersey 4, Marchant 4, Bates, Cunningham and Atkinson 6. High School—Sheppard 11, Patrick 1.

Harmony—L. Alexander, D. Perry 4, A. Lalonde 3, M. Peden 4, E. Mathews, M. Holl, B. Armstrong 4, and B. Macmurchi 1.

Red Birds—T. Rennie 1, B. Peden 6, M. Wilson, K. Wellburn 1, J. Edwards 7, M. Motion, D. Les, B. Boyce and K. Altherton.

Fleming stars Ken Fleming's ability to find the hoop from all angles was the vital factor in the Jolly Rogers' win over the Lindes. These boys put on a great game of basketball on many of the city's future stars were in action in this game.

The teams and individual scores follow: Jolly Rogers—K. Fleming 16, Holmes 2, Cluff 4, Shave 4, Moir and Moir.

Lindes—Robb 7, Naysmith 3, Ross 4, Gough and Young 2.

George Rudolph In Rare Form To Set Bowling Mark

Waukegan, April 10.—Bagging thirty-four out of a possible thirty-six strikes, George Rudolph, of Waukegan, was credited with establishing a new record for bowling in an official league game here yesterday evening. His grand total was 878.

Rudolph smashed the maples for 279 in his first game, 299 in his second and ended his remarkable showing with a perfect 300 game.

AN OLD TIMER'S SCRAPBOOK BY TIM MCGRATH

Jeffries' Glove Came Off in the Last Round Of His Battle With Tom Sharkey

JUST ANOTHER little story about the Jeffries-Sharkey fight at Coney Island before I forget it . . . How Jeff and Sharkey fought the last round ten days after the battle. The late Billy Delaney loosened Jeff's glove lacing just before the last round. In a clinch the glove came off, and remained under Sharkey's arm. Old-timers still argue about what happened immediately afterward. Some say Jeff hit with banded fist. To be frank, we were so excited that I can't say positively what did occur.

The late George Siler, who refereed, stopped the fight and tied on Jeff's glove. They were tearing in again when the gong rang, and Siler raised Jeff's hand. It ended what I believe the greatest heavyweight fight in history.

TEN DAYS later, Jeff and Sharkey re-enacted the last round in the same ring for the movies. I suppose this was because of the glove coming off. That isn't generally known, although the movies were widely shown. Here's another thing: After Siler raised Jeff's hand, Sharkey vowed he'd throw Siler in the Atlantic Ocean if he came near him. So Colonel William A. Brady, Jeff's manager, perhaps qualifies as the first "double" in the history of the movies. He put on a false mustache and white hat, to look like Siler and so far as I know, this deception never was noticed by film crowds.

Patricia's Captain By JIMMY THOMPSON

DUKE (THE SECOND) DUTKOWSKI CAPTAIN OF CANADA'S JUNIOR TEAM OF THE REGINA PATRICIAS MEMORIAL CUP CHAMPIONS FOR 1929-30

A WHEELBARROW RIDE DOWN EIGHT CITY BLOCKS IN WINNIPEG—WENT TO THE WINNER OF THIS BET ON THE MEMORIAL CUP GAME

The great Memorial Cup classic for 1930 is history. The Regina Patricia's have been playing the game since 1919. So giving credit where it is due, it must be said that they have the goods. Twelve times now have these junior finalists faced the barrier and seven times they have emerged from the finals the victor, seven of these have been in the last ten starts. When the junior championship series came into being in 1919 the showing made by the westerners was disappointing, and the eastern teams seemed to be supreme. Eleven years ago the Regina Patricia's made their first appearance in the junior classic with ambitions to win the Memorial O.H.A. Cup, but they were turned back by the University of Toronto Schools sextette by a score of 19 to 8 on the road.

In that game Dunc Munro, now manager of the Montreal Maroons, and Duke Dutkowski, the huge Chicago Black Hawk, were the respective stars of their teams. The Pat took it on the chin, and plenty, but they learned something and the club has come through to benefit by their experience. Now, in the 1930 junior classic, Duke Dutkowski the Second, as he is known in Regina, has avenged the defeat of his brother, and as the Winnipeg fan puts it—and how. The Memorial Cup games have produced stars such as these: Lionel Goecheer, Dunc Munro, Joe Sullivan, Jack Aggett, Roy Worters, "Duke" McCurry, "Tex" White, "Dinky" Moore, Billy Burch, "Howie" Moreau, Frank Carson, "Mush" March, "Duke" Dutkowski, Murray Murdoch, Paul Thompson, Sil Acester, Ken Doraty, Charlie Keeling, Carl Vosa, "Gib" McKelvey, "Paddy" Patterson, Bill Taucher, "Shrimp" McPherson, Marty Lauder, "Big" Hove and "Shrimp" McDougall. To this number may be added the names of the following who participated in the 1930 finals: Norman Collings, Bill Thoms, Bob Gracie, Norman Lampert, Kenny Moore, Gordon Pettinger and "Duke" Dutkowski Jr.

AN OLD TIMER'S SCRAPBOOK BY TIM MCGRATH

Jeffries' Glove Came Off in the Last Round Of His Battle With Tom Sharkey

JUST ANOTHER little story about the Jeffries-Sharkey fight at Coney Island before I forget it . . . How Jeff and Sharkey fought the last round ten days after the battle. The late Billy Delaney loosened Jeff's glove lacing just before the last round. In a clinch the glove came off, and remained under Sharkey's arm. Old-timers still argue about what happened immediately afterward. Some say Jeff hit with banded fist. To be frank, we were so excited that I can't say positively what did occur.

The late George Siler, who refereed, stopped the fight and tied on Jeff's glove. They were tearing in again when the gong rang, and Siler raised Jeff's hand. It ended what I believe the greatest heavyweight fight in history.

TEN DAYS later, Jeff and Sharkey re-enacted the last round in the same ring for the movies. I suppose this was because of the glove coming off. That isn't generally known, although the movies were widely shown. Here's another thing: After Siler raised Jeff's hand, Sharkey vowed he'd throw Siler in the Atlantic Ocean if he came near him. So Colonel William A. Brady, Jeff's manager, perhaps qualifies as the first "double" in the history of the movies. He put on a false mustache and white hat, to look like Siler and so far as I know, this deception never was noticed by film crowds.

Washington And U. of C. Crews Meet To-morrow

Seattle, April 10.—The annual battle for the Pacific coast rowing supremacy will be waged on Lake Washington here to-morrow between California and Washington with bitterly contested races being predicted in all three events—varsity, junior varsity and freshman. Perfect rowing weather—sunshine and gentle breezes—was forecast for to-morrow by the weather bureau. There will be little chance of heavy winds churning up the lake and forcing postponement of the regatta until Saturday or Monday, reported the government weather observer. With the rival crews expected to be fairly evenly matched, old-time Lake Washington records may be shattered in the event of smooth water.

Carnera Will Be Allowed to Show In Seattle Ring

Seattle, April 10.—Primo Carnera, giant Italian boxer, will be allowed to show in an exhibition, but he will not be permitted to fight in a Seattle ring, the recently-appointed boxing commission decided to-day. The athletic body last week voted to refuse Carnera's request to show in to-morrow's fight, but changed its stand yesterday to allow the huge fighter to put on an exhibition, after a conference with one of the Italian's representatives.

Carpet Bowlers Receive Prizes At Annual Dance

On Saturday evening last the Capital City and District Carpet Bowling League held its annual social and dance at the Foresters' Hall, where about 200 carpet bowlers and their friends spent a very enjoyable evening. Frank J. Bygg, honorary president, who introduced carpet bowling into the city, presented the trophies and prizes to the various winners. In order to spur on the other players to make still greater efforts to win the Bygg shield, he promised to award a special prize to the first team other than teams from the Willow Club, that did so. The shield was won this year by Willows "C," skipped by A. McMillan; runners up, Lakehill "C," skipped by Mr. Groutage. The Little League was presented to "B" Mark's "B," skipped by C. Goodwin, for winning first place in the Second Division. The Pimley and Ritchie Cup went to J. Leiper as singles champion. The Mayor Ansonby Cup went to W. McCaghy as novice champion.

The prizes for open doubles went to J. Leiper and E. Scroggs. The Army and Navy Challenge Cup went to Willows "D," skipped by J. Leiper. A special prize presented by J. McMartin for the player giving the runner-up, went to K. Nelson. A presentation of a beautiful leather portfolio, was then made by Wm. Baker, president, on behalf of all members of the league to W. B. Colvin as a token of their appreciation of the services rendered by him as honorary secretary.

The annual general meeting of the Capital City and District Carpet Bowling League will be held at the Civil Service Clubrooms, Friday, April 11, at 8 p.m. Election of officers for the ensuing year will be held, besides other business.

ROY RETAINS TITLE AFTER A BAD SCARE

Canadian Featherweight Champion Finds Sammy Hackett Tough Opponent

Large Crowd Boos Decision; Premier Tolmie Is Interested Spectator

Montreal, Que., April 10.—The featherweight boxing champion of Canada remains with Leo "Kid" Roy, who was awarded the decision over Sammy Hackett of Toronto at the end of ten rounds of uninteresting fighting here yesterday evening. The decision was booed by the crowd that had packed the large arena by the time the main bout was scheduled. Hackett dazed Roy in the first few moments of the fight with a solid right to the chin and knocked him down a moment later. It took the champion three rounds to recover from the dizziness of that mad few moments at the start. The crowd cheered Hackett as he left the ring.

Except for the first round the bout did not hold much to interest the fans. They wanted action, but they saw a tall man and a short man weave about the ring mostly tapping each other. Roy, after his lesson of the first round, was intent on keeping out of range of the long arms of the Toronto boy and was a little bit worried about Hackett's superior height.

A SLOW BOUT He followed Hackett around the ring flatfooted, his legs wide apart, his head weaving from side to side. He thrust hard, numbing punches to Hackett's midriff, which was at a convenient height for him. Whenever he got close enough he slugged him two-handed, throwing overhead swings to his head and neck. Tactics remained unchanged till the last round, when both attempted to mix it and started mixing in their eagerness.

Barely had they shaken hands at the start of the affair than Hackett slipped in and shot over a rapier-like right against the champion's chin. Roy followed his eyes and staggered, Hackett followed it up with a left and crossed with his right again. Roy flopped into the ropes and his knees started to sag. Hackett came in close and Roy wrapped his arms around him and clinched. He fought mechanically the remaining half of the round. The Toronto lad could not knock Roy out, though he rent him down without a count. 1. was more a trip than a knockdown.

B.C. PREMIER PRESENT Mayor Houde and Premier Tolmie of British Columbia stepped into the ring before the main bout. His Worship Mayor Houde extended a welcome to the visiting Premier.

Pete Stanoloff, hard-hitting fighter from Norway, won a technical knockout over Ossie Bartlett of Duluth, in a ten-round bout that followed the main attraction. The end came in the eighth round after Stanoloff had had Bartlett groggy for three rounds and did not seem able to find the right spot to put the knockout punch.

Glenna Collett Will Cut Team

New York, April 10.—Glenna Collett knows just how the old woman felt who lived in a shoe and had so many children she didn't know what to do. The captain of the United States women's golf team soon to invade England said she has acceptances from "about eighteen" players, whereas the blueprint for the international competition provides only ten places.

Glenna Collett has suggested to Miss Molly Gourlay, British captain, that the team be enlarged to at least sixteen, but Miss Gourlay indicated a preference for play on the basis of the original ten.

The United States side will be strong, including Miss Collett, four times champion; Helen Hicks, Canadian champion; Maureen O'Connell, and other stars.

JUVENILE SOCCER Following is the draw for Saturday's games in the Juvenile Soccer League: Victoria West vs. Spanish Thistles, at Victoria West. Sons of England vs. Five C's, at Central Park.

RUGBY MEETING The annual general meeting of the Victoria Rugby Club will be held in the Chamber of Commerce Wednesday evening, April 10, at 8 o'clock.

FAVOR RETURN OF TECHNICAL SCHOOL GRANTS

City School Board Joins Vancouver in Appeal For Revival of Dominion Plan

School boards in British Columbia are lining up support for a revival of the Dominion Government's technical school grants, by way of endorsement of the action of the Vancouver School Board in asking a renewal of the plan. The City School Board endorsed the move at a meeting yesterday evening, with Trustee George Jay in the chair.

The sum of $10,000,000 in the first allotment throughout the Dominion had been productive of much good, and the system could be continued with great benefit to all provinces, Vancouver trustees explained in asking endorsement of their action to plead for a renewal of the plan.

TENDERS OPENED
In a two-hour meeting city trustees disposed of a routine agenda. A donation of $300 by the Sir James Douglas Parent-Teacher Association for lighting at the new school auditorium was acknowledged with thanks. The board voted $192 towards purchase of two duplicators in city schools, where the balance required will be found by the schools. Price inquiries are to be made as to the contemplated purchase of a new Ford chassis and delivery body.

Tenders were opened for awnings at Moss Street primary school, and for electric wiring and lighting at the Sir James Douglas auditorium. Aving tenders were received from Weiler Bros. and Jeune Bros. and referred for report. Hawkins and Hayward submitted the lowest bid on the wiring and lighting at the auditorium, quoting a price of $370 for the work, including lamps and fixtures. This offer was accepted.

Trustee Ferguson secured passage of a resolution to prohibit further buying of school requirements without reference to the board. Where the board's help is required to buy additional equipment at the schools, such purchases in future will be made through the board, and the equipment becomes the property of the city, it was decided.

Trustee J. L. Beckwith reported expenditures to date of $158,025. Trustee W. C. Morenby, K.C., disclosed progress on school grounds, fences, etc. At 10 o'clock the board went into committee on staff affairs.

MALE MANNEQUINS HEADLINE YEAR'S SARTORIAL SHOW

Congratulations Showered on Tip Top Tailors as Great New Plant Opens

Toronto, April 10.—The 1930 models in men's toggery made their debut to an admiring public—more than half of whom were women—at the new plant of Tip Top Tailors Ltd., with floral decorations fit for the coming-out party of a daughter of the four hundred.

Since this unique style show also coincided with the formal opening of the Fleet Street plant by Mayor B. S. Wemp, gifts and congratulatory bouquets were showered on President David Dunkelmann and his fellow directors from their colleagues in the tailoring and allied industries in many parts of Canada. But one bouquet stood out from the rest. It was a mass of pink bloom in the president's office, and bore this card, "Dear Dad, just to let you know that we are proud of you—the children."

The style show itself, while not the first to make use of male mannequins, at least established a record in their number. There were a dozen young men in what the young man should wear, and they easily stole the show from the fair sex.

Young ladies clothed in smart creations supplied—and in many cases actually designed—by Stapell Fletcher Ltd., naturally claimed some of the limelight generously supplied by Jack Arthur, but it was a distinctly masculine occasion, from dress suits to plus fours of white flannels.

Since summer is on the way, even if the weather looks otherwise, and toggery ran to light materials and light colors. There were checks and tweeds, stripes and solid plain colors designed from the standpoint of an absolute layman—with smart brevity and double-breasted suits had a strong representation, and trousers were just short enough to show what was smart in socks.

MANNEQUINS NONCHALANT
At least three of the young mannequins were on the job for the first time, and after the final performance Saturday will go back to their regular jobs in the plant with a larger private wardrobe than a movie star. It would be assumed these young men would be self-conscious in the presence of a crowd which overpowered the brilliantly lighted and decorated recreation room, but they must have read those advertisements about being nonchalant.

The parade along the middle aisle on wedding day was nothing compared to the long winding runway traveled by the young men who have learned the knack of wearing clothes as they should be worn. And part of the job was to hesitate half-way and light a cigarette so the audience could get a good look at the new suits. But the men failed when it came to casually opening their coats, and displaying their vests. Men, it seems, don't do that. Girls, it also seems, are artists at turning around and unbuttoning their coats, but to the sterner sex it just isn't natural.

Mayor Wemp, in formally opening the new $1,000,000 building—in the afternoon, said: "The new home of the Tip-Top Tailors is a great credit to you, Mr. Dunkelmann, and to your colleagues."

The mayor told of the board of control's decision to subdivide the Fleet Street territory between Bathurst and Strachan Avenue, which would result in all the land west of the Tip-Top building being reserved for park purposes and the possible extension of the exhibition. He congratulated the company on securing such a site.

"You have erected one of the most up-to-date of modern plants," he stated. "I congratulate you on the architecture of your building which is keeping with our wonderful waterfront."

PRESENTED WITH KEY
Mr. Dunkelmann, president of the company, presented the mayor with a key to the building and Mrs. Wemp was presented with a bouquet of flowers by H. P. McKeechie, general manager of the company. Mr. Dunkelmann, in replying to the mayor, said:

"The presentation of this key to you, particularly on account of the high position which you so worthily fill symbolizes the opening of our building for the next few days to the public of the City of Toronto, who have done so much through their loyal patronage to make this organization possible."

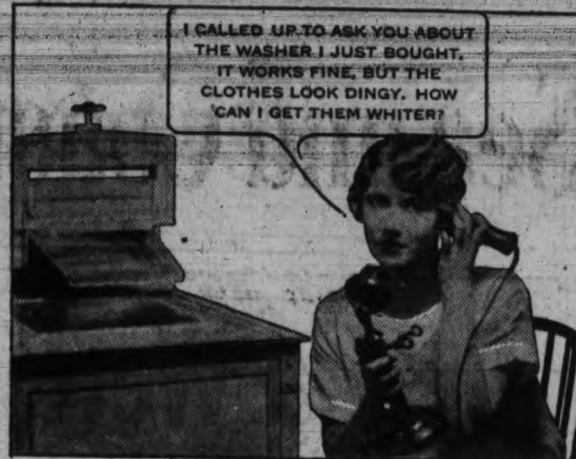

"As an individual, I can take but very little credit for the position of leadership that I believe is held by Tip-Top Tailors to-day. That credit belongs to the loyal colleagues who have worked with me in this endeavor for the past twenty years, but it particularly belongs to the citizens of Toronto and throughout Canada generally, whose servants we are."

CARE FOR WORKERS
"Throughout the plant itself we have taken the privilege of showing you gentlemen, particular care taken to insure that our employees should have an opportunity of carrying on their daily work amid surroundings that are both healthful and pleasant."

"We have ever kept in mind the fact that each garment that bears our name must meet a rigid standard of quality and workmanship in order that the consumer gets full value for every dollar he may spend for Tip Top clothes. I look upon this moment as one of the happiest days of my life, because it is the realization of an ideal that I have had in mind for many years past."

Those present included ex-Mayor McBrice, Sir Jas. Woods, Controller Pearce, Aldermen Ramsden and Sykes, ex-Ald. Joe Gordon, Thos. Jenkins, chairman of the harbor commission, J. E. Atkinson, City Clerk James Gordon, and many other notables in business and civic life.

The party was conducted through the building, viewing the mail order, stock cutting, pressing, and other departments of the modern tailoring plant, which also has rest rooms and canteens for its employees.

Partizan Politics in Expenditures Charged in Legislature

Canadian Press
Halifax, N.S., April 10.—Charges that partizan politics had entered into the expending of road monies by the department of highways were leveled at last night's session of the House of Assembly, by A. S. MacMillan, Liberal, Digby, whose assertions were characterized as "misleading and extravagant," by Hon. Percy C. Black, replying for his department in the debate on the highway's report.

"We are building, and have built, the trunk roads of Nova Scotia to a higher standard, wider and at lower cost than the previous government built them," declared Mr. Black, who said that the cost per mile, which Mr. MacMillan had

The Act for the Prevention of Frauds in connection with the sale of securities, which was passed at the recent session of the British Columbia Legislature, will be put into effect early in May. Arrangements for this are now being made by Hon. R. H. Pooley, Attorney-General.

According to the statute, which is the Province's final effort to eliminate dishonest dealings in stocks and bonds, all financial firms will require licenses before being permitted to carry on business. Forms and other documents required are now being drafted, and applications for licenses will be received shortly.

When these preliminaries are completed, the law will be put into operation, Mr. Pooley stated.

This NEW GILLETTE BLADE and RAZOR

is reinforced against hard knocks

HOW many times have you dropped your old Gillette on wash-bowl or floor? More than once, probably. Usually no harm was done, but not always. Sometimes, after such an accident the blade "pulled."

Gillette engineers, in seeking the cause of "razor pull," questioned thousands of Gillette owners and examined tens of thousands of old Gillette razors. Practically every razor that "pulled" had been dropped. The corners of the guard were dented. Not much... but a Gillette Razor is a precision instrument. Even a microscopic dent was enough to throw out the adjustment, to cause "razor pull."

In designing the New Gillette Razor and Blade, Gillette engineers reinforced the razor corners with extra metal. They cut out all four blade corners. Now it's hard to dent the razor. But even if you should, no harm is done, for the new blade is not held at the corners when cap and guard clamp together. Your shave remains perfect, no matter how much this razor is dropped.

That's one great improvement. There are many more in this new shaving tool. The New Blade is made of steel which has been specially processed to resist rust. No more cut towels. No more tedious wiping of razor parts. A simple twist of the fingers turns the guard at right angles. Then re-tighten and hold under hot running water. Shake thoroughly. Lay on the shelf. That's all the drying you do.

Gone are the old center posts. You'll never nick another blade on them.

We are making every effort to keep up with the demand for the new razor. We hope you will not have to wait for yours. But if by chance you should, you can use the New Gillette Blade in your old Gillette Razor for the time being. Visit the nearest Gillette dealer today before his supply gets low.

H. T. Ravenhill Retires as District Commissioner After Long Period of Service

Lord Colville was elected last night at the deferred annual meeting of the Victoria and District Scout Association at Scout headquarters. Lord Colville was introduced by President A. B. Sanders. Others on the executive are: Vice-president, P. R. Leighton; secretary, A. G. Horsefield; treasurer, C. Hensley; committee, H. Patterson, W. Harity, K. Ferguson, Major Wise and Miss D. Hilliard.

Mr. Leighton sponsored a resolution of appreciation of the work of Mr. Remhill over a long period in promoting the Scout movement in Victoria.

In his farewell speech, Mr. Rayvenhill expressed his thanks for the faithful co-operation extended to him in the office of district commissioner and begged to leave behind loyalty and support for his successor. He said it was a pleasure to hand over the post to a man of such fine character as Lore Colville.

President Sanders and W. Solway, the provincial executive commissioner, explained the system the association must adopt to comply with the new constitution and the line with the rest of Canada, instead of the unwelcome constitution partly drafted a year ago. It was decided that the association will meet for the first time on Tuesday in February, April, June and October.

Treasurer C. Hensley reported receipts of $4,140.77 and expenditures of $4,128.77. The secretary reported that from the building trust account of $9,500 the expenditures in connection with the new headquarters totaled $3,378.33, leaving a balance of $121.53.

Vote of thanks was passed to Scoutmaster Cox for Scouting books for the library.

A resolution of sympathy to be extended to Mrs. E. H. Bird, was passed. It was decided to present a thank badge at the next meeting of the Women's Auxiliary to Mrs. Kitchen, which was intended for the late Mr. Kitchen.

Vast Developments to Make B.C. World Centre, He Says

Montreal, April 10.—A vast economic development of waterpower, water-transport and natural resources of British Columbia that is destined to make the province one of the greatest, if not the greatest industrial centre in the world, was forecast by Hon. S. F. Tolmie, Premier of British Columbia,

Columbia are generally good," Dr. Toimle said. "The financial depression all over the continent has, of course, had its effect on the lumbering in British Columbia to some extent. What exports have been lighter than usual. Lumber markets have not been so brisk, but these are temporary conditions which must prevail from time to time."

"With Vancouver port open throughout the year, with cheap water transport to all parts of the continent, and with the great market across the Pacific Ocean, British Columbia can only suffer from these business depression setbacks. The province is assured," Dr. Toimle declared.

Vancouver, April 10.—Money subscribed in ten-cent pieces by the school children of British Columbia will be devoted to laying out of a peace memorial park on the Canadian side of the peace arch at the international boundary, it was decided at a meeting Tuesday of the International Peace Movement Association at Hotel Vancouver.

New York, April 10. — Advance in gasoline prices which Standard Oil of New York put into effect to-day calls attention to the improvement in the outlook in the oil industry. The Herald-Tribune says to-day:

A blazing pole transformer at Cook and Fort Streets, and a false alarm to a box napper at Cook Street and Hillside Avenue gave the fire engines two runs yesterday evening between 8.30 and 10.30 o'clock. With the exception of some electrical damage to the transformer, little injury was caused by the blaze on the real alarm.

A letter of condolence will be sent to the widow and family of the late Archdeacon Davidson, by the Rotary Club. It was decided at the club's luncheon in the Empress Hotel to-day.

All prospective members of the Rotary football team will attend a practice at Beacon Hill, near the bowling green, early to-morrow evening.

City and Saanich school trustees met to-day at the request of Saanich, asking reconsideration of the status of this issue in respect to fourteen Saanich students at the High School, who took supplementary City trustee school firm on the ground that Saanich owes $1,080 on account of the tuition of these students. Saanich trustees affirmed their intention of withholding payment, contesting liability. The conference ended in a deadlock.

The second concert of the season will be given by the Arion Club on Tuesday, April 29. The club is indebted to the Gordon MacLeod Players for their courtesy in allowing the use of the Royal Victoria Theatre for this concert. Three madrigals are included in the programme, as it is intended to build a tradition on compositions of this type. Stanley Bulley, the choir conductor, will offer two piano groups, while Percy Gibbs, Thomas Kelsey and Llewellyn Jones will be heard as soloists.

In connection with St. George's Day annual celebration on April 23, a special committee of the Society of St. George met at the home of Mrs. F. H. Parsons, Manchester Road, to make arrangements. Final arrangements for the programme were left in the hands of the president, Harry Langley. Alfred Hallam, secretary, and W. G. Barnes, assistant secretary.

A motion to quash a conviction for unlawful sale of liquor in the case of Rex versus Robert Rowan was made in Supreme Court Chambers before Mr. Justice Murphy this morning by Stuart Henderson, counsel for the accused. W. C. Moreby, K.C., opposed the motion on behalf of the Crown. The accused had been convicted in April of 1929 on a charge of selling the complaint as a second offence, submitted Mr. Henderson, who argued that the facts did not support the wording of the complaint. Judgment was reserved at the close of extended argument on legal precedents.

Mr. Bowles has been successful in securing a permanent place for the holding of the practice, and has also secured a piano which should overcome some of the difficulties experienced in the past. All members of the Victoria Boys' Orchestra will be welcome to attend these practices to be held on Friday evenings.

SAANICH MAY HAVE SCHOOLS IN FESTIVAL

Parent-teacher Associations to Ask School Board to Change Its Mind

A petition will be placed before the Saanich School Board seeking reconsideration of that body's move to prevent Saanich school children from competing in the coming Victoria Musical Festival. A resolution to that effect was passed at a meeting in Gordon Head Hall yesterday evening. Several representatives of the parent-teacher bodies of the municipality attended and left the gathering with the belief that the children would be permitted to enter the festival.

The resolution of the parent-teacher bodies of the municipality will act with A. G. Lambie as a committee to interview the school board and present the meeting's case. The resolution of the Gordon Head residents was endorsed by a delegation from the Cedar Hill Parent-teacher Association.

During the meeting Trustee Tomes explained the board's reason for not wishing the school children to compete, but the gathering failed to recognize the weight of his arguments.

The petitioners request the school board to allow those who won prizes last year to compete, but met opposition from Mr. Harper, who objected to any half-way measure.

A. E. Horner stated that the musical festival committee would extend the time for entrance in the festival to Saanich and would do everything in its power to have the children compete. He further stated that the committee would supply the necessary music books within forty-eight hours of Saanich's announcement of entry.

Speakers to Direct Attention of Pacific Coast to Victoria

Speeches by Stephen Jones, David Leeming and George I. Warren of the Chamber of Commerce, before committees of bodies and service clubs in the chief cities from Portland to Tijuana will attract interest of the coast as far south as Mexico, to Victoria. It was announced at the Chamber of Commerce to-day.

Plans were completed to-day for the motor caravan of the three Victoria speakers, who will leave here Sunday afternoon. Facts about Victoria, this island and the northwest were being assembled in speaking form to-day for presentation by Mr. Jones, Mr. Leeming and Mr. Warren in their luncheon, dinner and night meeting addresses.

IMPROVEMENTS DECIDED UPON

New Floats at Gorge and More Cement Picnic Tables to Be Placed

New floats at the Gorge Park, road repairs at the top of Mount Tolmie, general enlargement of parking space, and more picnic seats are some of the recommendations decided upon by the Victoria-Saanich beaches and parks committee after its tour of city and Saanich properties yesterday.

At Mount Douglas Park, trails are to be cleared and more picnic tables provided. Clearing will be carried on at the northwest corner of Elk Lake, with an enlargement of parking space, the clearing of the running track and provision for more picnic tables. A new refreshment stand for Elk Lake is also contemplated.

Improvements will also be carried out at Bear Lake and a new shade pavilion at Island View Beach is contemplated. In general, the committee decided to clear out trails and provide for accommodation for the public during the season. The sum of $300 will be spent on the fabrication of cement tables for the picnic grounds. The committee is being found to withstand considerable wear and to be suitable for the purpose.

The Junior Red Cross of the West Saanich School will hold an afternoon tea and sale of work in the school on Friday, April 11 at 3 p.m.

HOBBY MEANS OF ATTAINING HER AMBITION

Collection of Posters Led to Trip Around World, Miss W. Guy Tells Rotarians

Started With Desire to Give Pupils Graphic Idea of Countries Studies

How the desire of her childhood, to travel around the world, was being realized by the pursuit of her novel hobby, was told by Miss Winifred Guy, collector of travel posters, before the Rotary Club at its luncheon in the Empress Hotel to-day.

Miss Guy explained the origin of her unusual idea of collecting posters, saying that as a teacher in Brighton Grammar School, she wished to give her pupils a graphic idea of the countries they were studying in geography. She had started her collection, she said, with a few posters from travel concerns in Great Britain.

After several private exhibitions, given on a small scale in her school, she had attracted the attention of a visiting convention of teachers who had expressed great enthusiasm over the high standard of art in her collection.

Her reputation had then grown until she had been requested to give exhibitions and lectures all over England. From that country she had sent about 1,000 pictures, photographs and posters to South Africa, where they were received with great enthusiasm.

She then explained how she had secured pictures from French, Swiss, Italian, Dutch and other European travel concerns as well as the United States and Canada. After sending out agencies of these different countries, she was willing to provide material for her and finally was quite deluged with matter from all over the world.

Her displays and talks were well received throughout England. But Miss Guy always had the feeling that she would be asked questions on the countries about which she spoke that would require a first-hand knowledge to answer.

WENT TO AUSTRALIA

Consequently, when she was offered an opportunity to go to Australia two years ago, she accepted readily, where, besides adding to her collection of posters and giving talks, she had a chance to travel over the greater part of the continent and glean first-hand information on it.

From that country she sailed for New Zealand, lecturing and showing her posters, while she gained an intimate knowledge of the land's geographical and historical features.

Now she was looking forward to conducting a similar tour throughout Canada, she stated.

Although she had sent the greater part of her collection, numbering over 1,500 posters, on to Vancouver, she had retained two dozen to display at the luncheon. These were shown around the walls of the ballroom and were explained by Miss Guy. Of particular interest were three posters representing spots by the noted English artist Sir William Orpen and Sir Bertram MacKinnell and the French commercial artist, A. M. Cassandre.

The other posters, all of outstanding merit, received comment from Miss Guy, who explained the different features.

At the conclusion of the talk, Alfred Carmichael thanked the speaker for her address and presented her with a bouquet of roses.

What is the Big Thing in Radio To-day?

Ninety-nine out of every hundred people we meet answer—

TONE!

RADIO to-day must be so good that mechanical elements can be taken for granted. Catch phrases won't sell radio... mechanical non-essentials have lost their interest. What sells radio to-day is performance—musical performance—TONE! That is exactly the reason why Victor predominates. Victor has always maintained Tone Supremacy. See and hear the Victor radios at this store.

TO-DAY'S GRAIN MARKETS

(By Branson, Brown & Co. Limited)
Winnipeg, April 10.—Wheat: The wheat market pursued a narrow course again today and was extremely nervous at times with fluctuations rapid. Opening prices were 2 1/2 to 2 3/4 higher than the previous close, based on the U.S. government condition report of winter wheat crop, which was placed at 77.4 and was construed as bullish. Liverpool was also sharply higher than due, however, the buying power was again largely local and scattered and with the pool credited with selling on the opening bulge and some liquidation by long, the early demand became filled up and the market eased off.

Later reports of showers and rains were received from a wide territory of the winter wheat belt, and the market had a sharp reaction, prices sinking to one cent under last night's close. From this point the market reacted with shorts covering, but acted nervous within a narrow range. The little outside interest appeared to be confined to the buying of July by seaboard interests. Export sales overnight were slightly improved, but pool working 600,000 bushels, but other exporters did nothing and the business was not reflected here. There were buyers in the market for all grades of cash wheat, but offerings were very light.

The trend of the market will depend largely on the report from the southwest, and at this time it is not known whether the precipitation has been sufficient to become a material benefit generally. Consensus of opinion is that the market will continue generally dull and largely professional. Early prices were all higher but the upturn was not held, all markets closing about unchanged to fractionally lower. There is very little demand for the cash grains, and export business is flat.

Flax—The market closed about unchanged with slight pressureless trade passing but no pressure.

(By Branson, Brown & Co. Limited)
Chicago, April 10.—Wheat: The market made a poor response to the bullish government report, selling off 3/4 from the early top and running into heavy selling on the hard spots from the extreme decline, there was a fair rally. The map showed no rain where needed, and the Kansas state report said dry weather had damaged what all over the west half of the state.

Canadian northwest had no rain, and forecast was for continued fair and mild weather. Forecast for threatening conditions for the southwest, which caused some selling. Milling demand was better to-day, mills taking 40,000 bushels, while receipts extremely light.

Foreign news not very encouraging, although Canadian pool was reported having sold 700,000 bushels wheat. Argentine shipments estimated at 3,475,000 bushels, and Russia shipped 1,040,000 bushels the past week.

The market has had difficulty in maintaining rallies for several days, but think it is getting down to a point where it will meet better support unless there are general and effective rains.

In our opinion the situation in western Canada is fully as important as in the southwest. Corn: Was heavy most of the season following an early rally. The setback in wheat continued heavy receipts west and liberal country sales totaling 103,000 bushels gave the market a heavy undercurrent, buying outside of occasional short covering was of moderate proportions. Western receipts were 700,000 to 800,000 a year ago.

Local run was 124 cars. Cash basis was steady to half higher and shipping sales 110,000 bushels. One feature of the present situation is that farmers are unusually far along with their spring work and are about to market corn freely.

Iowa state report said preparations for corn planting much further ahead than usual.

Prices have had a fair setback and would not be inclined to press selling aside on weakness.

Oats—Held fairly well to-day, the market helped by the better cash demand sales 200,000 bushels. Best in some time. Receipts moderate here.

Rye: Little pressure, little special feature, prices are low and while little buying in the market, the rye type of feed is good trading opportunity.

Constructive Leadership Fails, Despite Bullish Wheat Report

Absence of constructive leadership was again demonstrated to-day in the grain markets, when prices failed to hold advances following the U.S. government crop estimate, which was construed as bullish, and in spite of the sharp advance at Liverpool and continued hot dry weather in the southwest.

Wheat was sold on cloudiness in Colorado, which was moving towards Kansas.

Bartlett, Frazier and Cox to-day comment as follows on the government crop report: "It is clear that the general prospect is below normal for a series of years, and it should further be borne in mind that returns were gathered over several days than those upon which private reports were based, so that it is evident the current trend in prospect is downward. There has been no relief in the wheat district of the southwest since April 1. It follows that the current prospect is undoubtedly below even the government figures."

Chicago, April 10.—All best records for April 9 in the forty-one year history of the weather bureau here were broken at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon when a temperature of eighty-nine degrees was recorded.

Washington, April 10.—Alexander Legge, chairman of the Farm Board, in commenting in the government forecast on wheat said that if the prediction was accurate, it would indicate a more healthy situation than last year. He said he expected abandonment to be more general.

Liverpool, April 10.—Broomhall states that the Argentine is practically eliminated as an important factor this season, owing to firmer exchange rate and absence of any large quantity of high grade wheat.

Chicago, April 10.—Forecast, Kansas and Nebraska: Partly cloudy, somewhat threatening to-night and Friday, cooler; Indiana, Missouri, fair to-night, Friday part cloudy, possibly showers, cooler; Iowa, Minnesota, Wisconsin, part cloudy to-night and Friday, possibly showers, cooler.

Montreal, April 10.—The Montreal Gazette to-day says: "The closing was strong on the Montreal Stock Exchange to-day. Domestic Power, Montreal Power and International Hydro Electric 'A' showed gains of over three points at the close."

VANCOUVER STOCK EXCHANGE

Canadian Press
Vancouver, April 10.—Prominent in the oil news to-day is the statement that Regent shareholders met April 21 to consider the sale to Mid-Continent of their company on a basis of two Regent shares for one Mid-Continent share.

Turner Valley news states that Home No. 5 is reaming at 12 feet in the line; Hargal is 133 feet in line, with showings similar to Home No. 1. Freehold No. 2 is 142 feet in the line, every indication of production; Mill City is having more difficulty with lost tools; Lowery Pete is still frozen over; Homestead, at 197 feet in line, is said to be a commercial producer, but will drill deeper. Model is producing 130 barrels daily, which, with a new separator, should be increased to 150 barrels.

Selling ex-dividend Home Oil eased off to 8.55 just before noon to-day, and A.P. Consolidated was a fairly heavy trader at 1.70. The general trend was toward weakness, with Calmont at 61.26, C. & E. at 1.68, Dalhousie at 1.40, Freehold at 82, Hargal at 1.00, Mill City at 33, Regent at 1.18 and United Ore at 37. The confidence of the general oil board, with support lacking for the oil, as they fell back a little from the opening quotations.

The news of the grain featured by heavy trading in Woodbine, around three cents. Premier accompanied its neighbor, holding around 1.03. Penfold sold at 2.40 and 2.45 and Reves sold at 2.42. Penfold has been selling steadily to Trail and which is distinguished by gold returns running consistently over five ounces to the ton, was at 1.30. The success of the Nicola mine has led to a plan to double mill capacity, although as yet no official announcement has been made. Snowflake held at 11. Geopline was offered at 2.50. Dalhousie Mines sold at 9 1/2 and Big Muskrat at 58. There was little change in the balance of the mining stock market.

MARKET OVERSOLD, BEARS RUN FAST AS BIG BUYING APPEARS

New York, April 10.—The stock market went on a wild bull rampage for the first hour today as blocks of $500 to $5,000 shares changed hands at rising prices. Total sales for the first half hour totaled 1,000,000 shares, which was the highest total for such a period this year.

MANY NEW PEAKS
Peak prices for the year were registered by Standard Oil of Kansas, Public Service of New Jersey, Manhattan Electric Supply, Best & Co., Sparks-Willington, Shubert Briggs Manufacturing, Borden Company, Universal Pipe, Chicago and Alton, pfd., Kreuger and Toll and Tinkler Roller-bearing.

It has been apparent for several days that bear traders were having difficulty in hammering stocks down, with the result that many issues have developed an over-extended short interest, which was quick to cover on the appearance of large buying orders.

MOTORS CLIMB
Aggressive buying of automobile shares was a feature of the late trade. General Motors was taken in large blocks at rising prices and reached a new high for the year at $44, up 1 1/2 points.

Food stocks were strong with Gold Dust and Standard Brands in special demand.

Public Service of New Jersey stood out in the utility division, running up to its best levels since the break at 120, up 2 1/2.

STEEL TONNAGE INCREASED
U. S. Steel Corporation tonnage statement showed an increase of 90,000 tons, and the stock moved up from 195 to 197 1/2.

American Locomotive dropped back to its low for the year at 80.

Johns Manville was another weak spot, selling off 1/4 point to 130 under large offerings.

Chrysler advanced on heavy volume to the best price since the autumn break at 42 1/2.

PROFIT-TAKING LATE
U. S. Rubber made a new high on the move at 94 1/2.

Radio Corporation firmed from 58 1/2 to 61 1/2.

General Electric made a new high at 95 1/2, and then sold down to 92 1/2.

There was heavy profit-taking in the utilities, and they sold off fast in the last hour.

Anasconda dropped from 76 to 73 1/2. Allied Chemical shot up from 90 1/2 to 91 1/2.

KREUGER AND TOLL GAINS
New York, April 10.—The better market tone displayed by Kreuger and Toll is explained by net earnings of $30,000,000 for 1929, against $21,800,000 in 1928 and $12,700,000 in 1927. Net income has therefore more than doubled in two years.

FOOD STOCKS LOOK BETTER
New York, April 10.—Food stocks have been strong recently, with Gold Dust, Borden and National Dairy Products climbing.

General Foods earnings available for dividends in the first quarter of 1930 are estimated at between $5,000,000 and $5,500,000, compared with $5,168,000 in the first quarter of 1929.

It is now becoming evident that manufacturers and distributors of food products have not suffered a decline in earnings, but have been able to maintain progress. The tone of the commodities markets is now firmer, or at least greater stabilization exists.

OUTLOOK IMPROVING
New York, April 10.—It is the belief in Wall Street now that the motor situation is developing much more favorably than expected.

In the motor field, Dupont's outlook has improved.

There is some belief that American can should resume its leadership in the near future.

MOTOR DIVIDENDS DECLARED
New York, April 10.—Nash Motors declared its regular quarterly dividend of $1.50 on the common stock, payable May 1 to stock of record April 21. Nash earned $1.50 a share in the quarter ended February 28, compared with $1.51 for the same period a year ago.

Packard Motor declared the regular quarterly dividend of 25 cents, payable June 12 to stock of record May 15.

SEES MARKET WEAKER
New York, April 10.—All Street Mirror-to-day issued the following to its clients:

"The constant strength displayed in certain directions in the market has eliminated much of the short interest and also has further weakened the technical position of the market. It cannot be denied that the market is entitled to further correction than has yet been seen and for this reason it is still advisable to withhold buying operations for the time being.

MANY BUYERS WAITING
"While we have been expecting outside influences to aid in bringing about the expected reaction, it is from within the market itself that this corrective process must make its appearance. Just how much of a technical correction the market is entitled to is a question. So many people have been misled by the part of this advance that they are likely to end any downward movement by placing buying orders just under current market levels.

"Consolidated Gas is still favored in good quarters and the stock should be bought on weak spots. Listing of Niagara Hudson is expected in the near future and when this step is accomplished more will be heard of the linking of this company and Consolidated Gas.

"Liggett & Myers is another high-grade issue which should be picked up on weak spots. The 'B' stock is entitled to sell materially higher on its past earnings record and also on its 1930 prospects."

WHITNEY LETTER
(By Branson, Brown & Co. Limited)

New York, April 10.—Whitney of Wall Street Financial Bureau says today:

ADVANCE TO CONTINUE
"The advance which was predicted for yesterday's market has been all of that, in fact has been so substantial that the answer to the general bearishness which has pervaded commission house letters for a week is supplied by a new 1930 record in both the industrial and public utility groups.

"I again repeat that I can find no reason for bearishness at this time nor any reason for recommending that profits be taken in any section of the list. Money is again trending down with a three per cent rate in effect in the outside market yesterday and the prospect of cheaper money to come. Do not be surprised if the morning cables carry the news that the Bank of England has again been reduced and likewise do not be surprised when you see records established pretty much throughout the list in the balance of this week.

"The steel tonnage statement which is due at noon today may show a small decrease but it is a decrease which means nothing when you consider that the corporation is working with a backlog of the largest order tonnage which it has had since 1926.

"I believe that the entire market is headed higher and that reactions continue to be nothing other than buying opportunities.

COMMENT
"With the utility group at a new record, again repeat that the utility stocks are not high enough, to attract profit-taking. Such standard issues as American Telephone and Telegraph, Brooklyn Union Gas, Consolidated Gas, Public Service of New Jersey, etc., can add anywhere from fifteen to twenty-five points to their prevailing prices.

"General Motors and Dupont are recording new tops for the year and have still far enough to go to make them good purchases here. Westinghouse around 190 is still good. Steel below 195 is dirt cheap. Associated Dry Goods is finally through 50, where it is still cheap, as is U. S. Rubber below 95.

"The oil group is in simply a temporary resting spot such as the motion picture issues were in the last three or four days. It is only a question of time when attention will again be directed to a new top for the year for the oil group.

"American Radiator is still decidedly attractive while it remains below 40. Union Carbide which has not been mentioned here in the past week is resuming its advance, following the lead of Air Reduction, which has already established its new 1930 record.

"The local traction stocks are going higher, and unified operation will be accomplished irrespective of the fate of the Unification Bill now in Albany."

Market Observers
CURRENT and existing market conditions have fully discounted certain existing bearish factors which have carried stock prices far below their normal levels. Here is a condition presenting a timely occasion at which to take advantage of the prices of good stocks which are below the intrinsic value of their companies. Shrewd market observers are now accumulating better stocks at the low levels. There are many opportunities. Seek our counsel.

FORD PROFIT OVER EIGHTY MILLIONS
Boston, April 9.—The balance sheet of the Ford Motor Company, as filed with the Massachusetts Commissioner of Corporations, today indicated profit for 1929 of $81,797,561, as contrasted with an indicated loss of $75,221,498 in 1928.

SEATTLE WORKMAN KILLED
Seattle, April 10.—Caught by a cave-in on earth and concrete while working on an excavation for a new building, John Anderson, forty-five, a laborer, died while being taken to hospital today. Fellow workmen dug him out within a few minutes after the crash.

his face, and discovered the canoe were just off Beacon Hill Park. They then paddled into the harbor, landing at a jetty at the foot of Fort Street.

Mr. Anderson and his sister lived with the Douglas family for a short time while attending the school of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Staines in the Fort. While Richard Staines was the official governor at that time, Mr. Anderson often claimed that Douglas was the real head of the colony.

OLD-TIMERS
Such old-timers as B. W. Pearce, J. S. Yates, J. D. Pemberton, Capt. Cooper and the Langfords arrived in Victoria the following year from England. The little fort was growing rapidly.

After two years of school, Mr. Anderson returned to the United States, but came back to Victoria in 1859 and entered the service of the colonial government in the customs and post office department. After leaving this work he was engaged in commercial pursuits for many years, and in 1880 Hon. J. H. Turner, then Minister of Finance and Agriculture, appointed him deputy. He organized the Department of Agriculture. He held the post until 1900.

GREAT HISTORIAN
The residence of Mr. Anderson in Victoria during his later years was a fortunate circumstance for the Provincial Archives, the B.C. Historical Association and other bodies interested in the old days of the city. His memory was kept and retentive, and many of the records now preserved were due to his powers. He was an enthusiastic and active member of the Historical Association until his untimely death.

He was a member of the Union Club and of several patriotic organizations. His passing will be widely mourned by his many friends not only in this city but all over the Province.

STOCK EXCHANGE
New York, April 10.—"If it were possible to apply a single factor as influencing the general market trend, that factor would be the business indication," H. P. Bliss says today in an analysis of financial conditions.

Trade spurted in January and February, but did not follow through conclusively in March. The last month of the first quarter gave no definite or well-defined clue one way or the other, except, perhaps, to show the general trade was still in what might be called a negative position.

"It is fair to say that the advances in the market lately have threatened to run ahead of the trend of business, which lends definite color to the belief that the market is logically at a point of indecision and perhaps moderate reactions.

"The first quarter in the steel industry was better than was anticipated at the beginning of the year. But the steel shares have recognized the fact that the trend of business, motor industry has been very spotty, with estimated production of the various units running from 85 per cent to 90 per cent of last year's production. The copper situation has been accurately reflected marketwise.

"Excellent earnings outlook for the motion picture industry has been capitalized, and this division of the market has attracted a most substantial amount of outside buying, which, in turn, has been succeeded by a most substantial amount of profit-taking.

"Outside participation in the food group has been small, and for the most part stocks in this division have moved narrowly in line with the general market, and in an earnings standpoint, have not lost ground, and we think that they are in a reasonably strong position marketwise as well. Technical position should be relatively strong.

The petroleum shares constitute one of the strongest groups potentially in the market, and selling in them at this time is likely to be unimportant, even though they may be affected for the present by general irregularity."

TREND OF TRADE STILL NEGATIVE, BLISS DECLARES

Spurt in January and February Did Not Follow Through March, He Says

New York, April 10.—"If it were possible to apply a single factor as influencing the general market trend, that factor would be the business indication," H. P. Bliss says today in an analysis of financial conditions.

Trade spurted in January and February, but did not follow through conclusively in March. The last month of the first quarter gave no definite or well-defined clue one way or the other, except, perhaps, to show the general trade was still in what might be called a negative position.

"It is fair to say that the advances in the market lately have threatened to run ahead of the trend of business, which lends definite color to the belief that the market is logically at a point of indecision and perhaps moderate reactions.

"The first quarter in the steel industry was better than was anticipated at the beginning of the year. But the steel shares have recognized the fact that the trend of business, motor industry has been very spotty, with estimated production of the various units running from 85 per cent to 90 per cent of last year's production. The copper situation has been accurately reflected marketwise.

"Excellent earnings outlook for the motion picture industry has been capitalized, and this division of the market has attracted a most substantial amount of outside buying, which, in turn, has been succeeded by a most substantial amount of profit-taking.

"Outside participation in the food group has been small, and for the most part stocks in this division have moved narrowly in line with the general market, and in an earnings standpoint, have not lost ground, and we think that they are in a reasonably strong position marketwise as well. The Princess and the Perjurer

Allan Hillgarth

"I do," I said and I intimated, by changing the subject, that I meant to keep my knowledge to myself. I inquired if he had seen Miss since my abduction. It appeared he hadn't, but he had had a message.

"I suppose you know," he added, "that Santa arrives to-morrow? Today, it is now."

"Yes," I said carelessly. "Where's your prisoner?"

"Upstairs. I was just going to have him brought down. Do you want to see him? He won't open his mouth."

"Haven't you tried persuasion?"

"A little. But I thought it best to get him away quickly and let that wait."

A little! I knew what that meant. Half an inch of sharp knife in the arm or matches between the fingers. I had no special love for Prince Boris Daladzhidze but at that moment I could cheerfully have killed Sokolov.

We went upstairs and into the very room where I had clubbed my gaoler. He was still there, poor fellow, but he had wounds now that I never caused. Another man lay near him, both very quiet and bloody. Two ugly rats sat at the table smoking cigarettes and on the floor, tied hand and foot, lay not the Prince but the Princess!

When she heard us come in, she lifted her defiant head and glared, but the sight of her villainous husband was too much, and I could see she was near to tears.

"So that's the boy," said I, looking down at her. "I never saw him, while I was here, but he may be important. Where do you propose to take him?"

"We have many safe places, as you know," said he, and he stirred the crumpled little body with his boot. "Are you going to tell us anything, imbecile?"

Getting no reply, he kicked her and turned away. I was furious but I had to content myself with promising him, under my breath, compound interest for that kick in the rear future.

"Take him down and put him on the sleigh," said Sokolov to his two beauties. He looked at me. "I'm going to disperse the comrades, keeping only the driver, as we haven't far to go and don't cross any districts that the police patrol. If you'll come with me, I'll take you on afterwards."

"After you've bestowed the prisoner in a safe place, you mean?"

He nodded. "Someone's very anxious about you," he said, adding, with a laugh, "my message was so imperative that I should never have dared return alone."

The two comrades with their burden were already going down, and we followed. Outside it was snowing harder than ever. Sokolov produced an overcoat for me from somewhere, and I put it on, though I thought it probably came from one of the dead mountaineers upstairs. I was also given a fur cap, which I accepted doubtfully, fearful of contracting some scalp disease. There were about twenty ruffians of the slums, and I noticed without surprise that everyone of them had taken advantage of the cold to don a little looking. Not that these could possibly be the personal belongings of the Prince and his sister, and the weapons of the slain Georgians. Where was the rest of his followers? It struck me that Sokolov was rather rash in dismissing his retinue. However, I said no reason to interfere, when presently he did so.

The men faded away like so many shadows, and our sleigh, drawn by two horses, slid off down the street. Sokolov sat beside me, the prisoner lay at our feet and the driver, of course, was in front. It was a light sleigh, with broad runners and a hood that came well down over us. To see what we were doing inside the driver would have to lie down. I perceived that Sokolov was indeed delivered into my hand.

Having no notion of our destination, I considered it unwise to delay long, and we had rounded but three corners

when I clutched at his throat. I got it and, exerting all my force, choked him. He gasped, but he could make a move or utter any sound beyond one faint gurgle. I pitched him out on to the snow, trusting that it would soon cover him and he would wake in hell. My attention was now for the driver, who, busy with his horses, had noticed nothing amiss. Scrambling forward and treading more than once on the poor Princess, I thrust my hand beyond the hood and called to the driver to listen to me. At once, as I had expected, he began to pull on the reins, but in a stern voice I bade him drive on, informing him that I had a pistol in my hand—as I had—and that, if he didn't do exactly as I told him, I shouldn't hesitate to fire it. I added that, for reasons which concerned only myself, I desired him to alter his route and to head with speed for the house of the Military Governor. Rather foolishly I warned him that he couldn't trick me as I knew the way.

Now, I was unfortunate in that driver, who was been one of Sokolov's best men. Apparently, completely cowed, he swung away to the left and whipped up his horses, as if he were only too anxious to obey my commands. For a time all seemed to be well, but, as we showed no sign of entering decent streets and getting on to the only road which I knew led from the town to the Governor's residence, I began to be suspicious and snapped out a question. On the instant, with the sleigh traveling at a considerable speed, the driver's seat was empty. The horses, maddened by the noise and also by the bound of the sleigh as it passed over the body, were galloping like a couple of demons. Finding myself up from the back seat, on to which I had been thrown, I climbed, still dazed, to the front. The reins were lodged on a hook, mounted on the driver's hand, and I gathered them with ease. Pulling in the horses was another matter, but after a sharp struggle I managed it. Indeed, if I hadn't, we should have been over to a certainty, and I think it was only the amount of me to prevent those two sturdy animals from wrecking us. Having got them down to a more moderate pace, I drove straight on for about two hundred yards and brought them to a halt. We were in a narrow road, bordered on one side by a line of low buildings and on the other by open ground. More I couldn't discern, but, whatever it was, we were certainly on the outskirts of the town. The snow was stopping, too, and I saw away up in the sky a faint touch of light above something with hard outlines. It was the dawn breaking over the mountains.

I got down, feeling very stiff and very tired, and sank promptly to my knees in the snow. With as much gentleness as was left in my numbed fingers, I cut the ropes that bound the Princess and helped her to the cushions. She was half frozen, poor child, and let me rub her limbs and pinch and punch her back into life. All the while she said not a word, not even when I took off her boots and rubbed her little feet, not even when I put my cap on her head and my overcoat round her shoulders. So I was constrained at last to break the silence myself.

"Better?" I asked.

She looked at me—I could just see her face—and nodded. "Do you think you could rouse yourself enough to look outside and make a guess at our whereabouts, because I haven't the faintest notion myself. You can't have much, but—"

"If you stand aside," she said in a low voice, "I'll look. I know Batoum well."

"Splendid!" You see, it might be awkward for us if we hung round here for long.

After a careful inspection of our surroundings, or as much of them as was visible, she announced, "We are on the Hulo road."

"That doesn't mean much to me," said I. "How can we get from here to the Military Governor's?"

She didn't answer at once but stared at me hard.

"After you want to go to the Military Governor's?" she asked at last.

"Well, I think it's a good place, don't you? We've got to get in out of the rain—I mean, the trouble—as soon as we can, haven't we? It struck me General Medvany would be a useful sort of a man to hide behind; that's all."

Another pause. Then, in a very puzzled tone, "I don't quite understand."

"Don't bother to. Tell me the way when I drive you there at once. I'm not much of a sleigh-driver but I won't upset you. Look here, no worry about suspicious thoughts! Just tell me the way to the Governor's."

"That's awkward, because there may be some one waiting for us. Have you any other destination in mind? Where is your brother? Can I take you to him?"

Yet another pause, a longer one this time.

"Come, come, Princess!" I said encouragingly. "I'm not an ogre, though I know you think I am. Look at it this way. You've got to trust me, so you might as well decide to do it thoroughly. Where shall I take you to?"

BEDTIME STORY

Uncle Wiggly And Billie's Surprise

(Copyright, 1930).

By HOWARD R. GARIS.

There was once an old lady rabbit who was very kind and good but so busy that, really, whenever she came on a visit to Uncle Wiggly he always felt like hopping around upside down. Still he was too polite to do this. The old lady rabbit, whose name was Mrs. Hush, was a friend of Mrs. Longears. And because his wife was always glad to have Mrs. Hush come to visit, Uncle Wiggly never said a word.

"Hush, my dear! Don't make so much noise. I am going to lie down and have a nap."

So Jingle and Jangle, Tingle and Tangle and Buster and Custer—all of Uncle Wiggly's little bunny boys and girls, in fact, called Mrs. Hush by that name.

One day Mrs. Longears opened a letter which had just come from the rabbit lady said:

"Mrs. Hush is coming on a visit."

"Oh, dear!" exclaimed Uncle Wiggly before he thought.

"What is that?" asked his wife, looking at him with both eyes. "What did you say?"

"I said 'Oh, dear!' that's all," explained Mrs. Longears, who went on to say, "Not oh dear what, just oh dear, I said."

"I was going to say 'oh dear, what a fine day' to have Mrs. Hush come and visit us. But you didn't give me a chance to finish, my dear."

"All right," said Mrs. Longears, again looking at the letter Mrs. Hush had written. "Yes, she is coming this afternoon and she writes to say she must have some mushrooms."

"Mushrooms!" cried Uncle Wiggly in surprise. "Mushrooms? What for?"

"Yes," said his wife. "It seems Mrs. Hush is getting old, so she can't chew carrots and turnips any more and she likes mushrooms, so you must go out and gather a few for her to eat."

"It is too early for mushrooms to be growing around here. I might find some toadstools."

"Don't you dare bring in any poison toadstools for Mrs. Hush to eat!" cried the rabbit lady. "She must have mushrooms and I am sure if you look for some you will find them. She is to be company and you must show us all ways do your best for company."

"Very well," said Uncle Wiggly, resigned-like and sad. "I'll go see if I can find any mushrooms. And I'll be careful not to pick toadstools by mistake."

Uncle Wiggly hopped over the fields, looking to right and left. But just as he said these words, he was a bit early for them. To grow out of doors in the woods and fields mushrooms must have hot weather, and April wasn't hot in Woodland. Mrs. Longears was hopping along, looking rather sorrowful, for he wanted to please his wife and eat mushrooms for Mrs. Hush, when all of a sudden, he saw Billie Bushytail, the squirrel boy.

"What are you looking for, Uncle Wiggly?" chattered the squirrel.

"Mushrooms," answered Mrs. Longears. "But to my wife none could be found growing, and I was right. There isn't a mushroom around here."

"Oh, yes, there is!" said Billie, flicking his bushy tail.

"Hi! You surprise me!" cried Uncle Wiggly. "Where are any mushrooms that I may take home to Mrs. Hush?"

"Up in that tree," chattered the squirrel boy, pointing to one nearby. "There are mushrooms up in that hollow place."

"Now I know you are teasing me!" said Uncle Wiggly. "Mushrooms don't grow in hollow trees."

"No, these mushrooms didn't grow there, but I put them there," said Billie. "You know, Uncle Wiggly," he went on, "we squirrels can't always find enough nuts to eat and store away over winter. So, when nuts are scarce, we gather the soft mushrooms from the fields and store them in the hollows of trees, or even in a decoy which we dig the branches spring out. There the mushrooms keep dry all winter and when we need them we climb up and get them. Well, I'll show you where my brother Johnnie and I hid a lot of mushrooms last fall. We didn't eat them so they must be there yet."

Up the tree scrambled Billie and soon out of the hollow he began tossing down some dried mushrooms for Uncle Wiggly. They were quite shrunken and almost as dry as nuts. "But I'll have you see how good they are!" said he, handing one to Mrs. Hush. "The rabbit gentleman as he filled his hat with the mushrooms, Billie had tossed out of the tree. And surely enough, when Mrs. Hush tasted the dried mushrooms which were freshened in warm water she said they were most delicious."

And if the cabbage head doesn't roll down hill and lose its hat so it can't go to the movies, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggly's moonlight dance.

"What are you looking for, Uncle Wiggly?" chattered the squirrel.

"Mushrooms," answered Mrs. Longears. "But to my wife none could be found growing, and I was right. There isn't a mushroom around here."

"Oh, yes, there is!" said Billie, flicking his bushy tail.

"Hi! You surprise me!" cried Uncle Wiggly. "Where are any mushrooms that I may take home to Mrs. Hush?"

"Up in that tree," chattered the squirrel boy, pointing to one nearby. "There are mushrooms up in that hollow place."

"Now I know you are teasing me!" said Uncle Wiggly. "Mushrooms don't grow in hollow trees."

"No, these mushrooms didn't grow there, but I put them there," said Billie. "You know, Uncle Wiggly," he went on, "we squirrels can't always find enough nuts to eat and store away over winter. So, when nuts are scarce, we gather the soft mushrooms from the fields and store them in the hollows of trees, or even in a decoy which we dig the branches spring out. There the mushrooms keep dry all winter and when we need them we climb up and get them. Well, I'll show you where my brother Johnnie and I hid a lot of mushrooms last fall. We didn't eat them so they must be there yet."

Up the tree scrambled Billie and soon out of the hollow he began tossing down some dried mushrooms for Uncle Wiggly. They were quite shrunken and almost as dry as nuts. "But I'll have you see how good they are!" said he, handing one to Mrs. Hush. "The rabbit gentleman as he filled his hat with the mushrooms, Billie had tossed out of the tree. And surely enough, when Mrs. Hush tasted the dried mushrooms which were freshened in warm water she said they were most delicious."

And if the cabbage head doesn't roll down hill and lose its hat so it can't go to the movies, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggly's moonlight dance.

Can a Man Really Love a Girl and Neglect Her? Sage Advice to the Woman Whose Husband Thinks Her a "Total Loss"—Wild Women as Wives

DEAR MISS DIX—Do you think a man cares for a woman whom he persistently neglects? This man is a fine, clean, intelligent chap and he is engaged to a girl whom he professes to love dearly, yet he goes away for weeks and does not communicate with her. Never a letter nor a wire. She doesn't even know where he is except through business friends. Then he comes blowing in at the most unexpected time and is wonderful and devoted while he is here. The girl is just eating her heart out over this thing. It is wrecking her nerves. She knows what to expect, never knowing whether he will return. She is putting up a brave fight, but her confidence is rapidly fading. Would you advise her to bear with him and await results?
HELEN

ANSWER—To me this looks like a plain case of one of those out of mind, and the final result of all the girl's waiting will be that she will be left waiting at the church, so to speak.

Besides, no girl wants to be loved in that sort of haphazard fashion. She wants to feel that she is loved with the heart grow fonder, and that even though separated from her in body, her fiancé's spirit and thoughts will still be with her, and that he would be sending her continually some little reminder of his affection to keep his memory green in her heart.

If he really loved her, this would be the case. There wouldn't be a day on which he wouldn't get some message from him. He would want to tell her where he was, what he was doing, and that he has no regard for her pleasures and interests with her. He would want the assurance that all was well with her and that she was missing him.

And if a man is too indifferent and selfish to take the trouble to write to his sweetheart, or too tight-mouthed to tell her where he is going, he sure that after marriage he will be one of the careless husbands who disappear and fail to return home at all. The number of wife-deserters is perfectly appalling. Every day we read in the newspapers the account of some Enoch Arden who has come back home after ten or twenty years' absence, old and broken and sick, and who expects his wife and children to slay the fattened calf to celebrate his return, and support and nurse him the balance of his life.

So my earnest advice to the lady with the fiancé afflicted with pen paralysis, and who is shy of the telephone booth, is to give him the air instead of a warm welcome the next time he comes back out of the silence and wants to take up their love affair where he dropped it.

He has shown by his actions that he doesn't really love her, that she is not necessary to his happiness, and he can get along perfectly well without her. He has demonstrated over and over again that he has no regard for her feelings, for the knowledge that her heart is torn with anxiety over him, and that his failure to write hurts and humiliates her, doesn't stir him up even to the extent of sending her a postal card.

She will have no chance of happiness with such a man. He is bad husband material. He should never marry any woman, but remain free and untrammelled.

When we speak of bad husbands, the sort the law gives a woman the right to divorce, we mean the men who are unfaithful to their wives, the drunkards, the "wild" men, the men who commit crimes against their wives, but it is doubtful if these men are really worse husbands than the good men who are just neglectful. The men who do not mean to be unkind, but who just never take the trouble to do anything to make their wives happy.

There are so many men who never even notice whether their wives are sick or well; whose wives might wear the same old dress for ten years, or have a new one on every day, and they would never see the difference; who never pay their wives a compliment; who dictate brief letters to them to hotel stenographers when they are away from home; who never make their wives a personal gift that shows that they have studied their taste, or even listen to the innumerable hints that have been given them of things their wives want.

These men may be models of all the virtues. They may be really fond of their wives. They may be good providers, but they are bad husbands because they starve their wives for tenderness and love.

Therefore, a girl can promise herself no happiness if she marries a neglectful man.
DOROTHY DIX.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—We are just the average couple. Husband makes barely enough for us to live on, no extras like movies, or little indulgences that make life lark, such as dashing into the drug store for a sundae or a bar of chocolate, but by rigidly observing these rules we keep a car. I wouldn't pay my husband a compliment; who dictate brief letters to them to hotel stenographers when they are away from home; who never make their wives a personal gift that shows that they have studied their taste, or even listen to the innumerable hints that have been given them of things their wives want.
CRUSHED.

ANSWER—Evidently you are a better sport than your husband is, for you are paying the piper with a laugh, while he is groaning over it.

There are a lot of men like your husband. They marry for the price of a wife is doing without all the comforts and luxuries to which they have been accustomed, they begrudge the sacrifice they have to make for her. I believe that about nine-tenths of the domestic unhappiness and the quarreling and fighting between husbands and wives is caused by young married couples being forced to a lower scale of living than that to which they have been used, and their not having the strength and courage to accept it philosophically.

Before they are married a girl and boy think that love is enough and that nothing matters but their being together, and that they will not care how shabby the house they live in if it is theirs, and that they will look beautiful to each other in any kind of clothes, that bread and cheese and kisses is all they want to eat, and that they will desire no other amusements than just a perpetual petting party.

But after they are married they find out that they crave good food as they did of yore; that cheap, common furniture gets on their nerves; that they are just as much interested in the theatre and stepping out as ever, and that they don't even look as good to each other when they lack the smart clothes, the attentions of the beauty and the barber shop, the chiffons and gewgaws that romance comes wrapped up in.

Then, when they look at each other—and if they haven't any money, looking at each other is about the only diversion they have—they are mighty likely to think that they paid too high a price for love and regret the bargain. Especially men. It takes a big man and a great lover to be willing to wear old clothes, and eat cheap lunches and not even have the price of a drug-store treat in his pocket and not take it out on his wife in grumpiness and grumpiness.

So there is the reason of your husband's attitude toward you, poor little crushed wife, and you only remedy is to go to work and become a money-earner yourself. What you must will buy amiability on your husband's part and will, at least, keep him from thinking, as he does now, that you are a total loss. It is sad but true that there is a price tag even on marriage.
DOROTHY DIX.

DEAR MISS DIX—I am thirty-eight years old. Am from a small village, but for the last twenty years have lived in large cities and have observed the freedom of conduct indulged in between the sexes without concern until recently I fell in love with a woman ten years my junior. She is getting a divorce with a view to becoming my wife. Unfortunately I find myself in the position of not being broad enough to approve of things which she seem of no moment. I do not approve of her smoking in public, or while riding in automobiles. I do not approve of her going to parties given in bachelor apartments where girls of doubtful character are entertained. I do not approve of her drinking unless I am with her. I do not approve of her going with other men. I do not approve of her friends, who either have already been divorced or apparently care little for their husbands. These differences cause continual strife. My business future demands a great deal of my time for study and these troubles are interfering with it and my happiness. Will I be wise to marry this woman?
JASPER.

ANSWER—No, Most unwise. She will not change her point of view after marriage. You will be in continual conflict. Your ideal of a woman is what every self-respecting man should demand in a wife, but a wild woman who likes gay parties will mock at them and consider you an old fogey.

FAIR WAGE BILL FOR BUILDINGS

Does Not Apply to Materials,
Heenan Tells Manufacturers

Ottawa, Ont., April 10.—The government's fair wage bill now before the House of Commons does not apply to manufacturers of materials for government construction jobs nor to contractors let the Canadian National Railways and the Harbor Commission. Hon. Peter Heenan, Minister of Labor, made this clear to a large delegation representing the Canadian Manufacturers' Association and the Canadian Construction Association which called upon him to-day.

Heenan said it was not the intention of the government to extend the terms of the bill to any except contractors and sub-contractors directly engaged in building, demolishing and repairing operations for the government.

Explorer Believes Aviation
Will Be Great Factor in World Peace

Wellington, N.Z., April 10.—Speaking to-day at a luncheon attended by New Zealand officials, Rear-Admiral Richard E. Byrd declared his belief that aviation would bind nations closer with ties of peace as great airships soon would be flying over the Atlantic and the Pacific.

"I believe aviation is more an instrument of peace than of war," said the American Antarctic explorer. "It tends to bring the nations of the world closer together and to know is to understand; knowledge lessens criticism."

In a few years time, I believe great airships will be flying across the Atlantic Ocean and in a few more across the Pacific. Some day I hope to revisit New Zealand in one of those airships."

The admiral did not predict the same development for the aeroplane as for dirigibles, although he believed that aeroplanes eventually would be flying regularly across great oceans with landing stations established en route.

To be preserved as one of New Zealand's cherished possessions, the Dominion Ensign carried by the explorer on his epic flight to the South Pole was returned to the Government by Byrd, who said he would return the Ensign and stripes to his own Government.

AT THE THEATRES

REAL NORSEMEN PLAY PARTS IN PICTURE "VIKING"

Peculiar things happen in the making of motion pictures, and "The Viking," Technicolor's epic of Viking days, done entirely in color, for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, which is now playing at the Columbia Theatre, is no exception to this rule.

One such incident transpired with the engaging of seamen to man the Viking ship used in the film, scenes depicting the sailing of "Leif the Lucky" to a "Land Beyond the Seas." The replicas of an original Viking ship, the Godstad, was used in the picture and a crew of sailors were ordered to act as rowers. The ship was anchored at harbor in the San Pedro Channel and an order was issued to the usual employment bureau at the port for a complement of sailors to man the oars.

Big men, Viking types, was the order given and these were forthcoming, but the peculiar part of this incident was in the reading of the names of the men engaged at random, along the waterfront. The list of extras read like a page from a Scandinavian directory.

"GETTING GEORGE'S GOAT" HILARIOUS VARIETY COMEDY

George Daniels learns not to step out when his wife is away in the farce comedy, "Getting George's Goat," which the Toby Leitch Players present at the Variety Theatre this week.

George does step out, in a perfectly innocent way, of course, and the result is almost disastrous to his domestic happiness. He tells Mable Beaton, career star, that his name is Robinson, but later he scolded hearing his real name in the cabaret. And when Mabel calls at the Daniels home to return the scarf, George finds himself in for a pack of trouble.

Toby Leitch is starred as a funny negro butler. Toby finds this an easy role to assume as a result of the study he made when a boy of the Kentucky and Tennessee negro. Holton Parker is excellent as George Daniels.

Little Duncan McLean, only six years old, wins thunderous applause with his rendition of two songs, including "Sonny Boy."

PAINT CREWS NOW NEEDED FOR FILMS IN-TECHNICOLOR

More men have been added to the motion picture payroll, which has been growing constantly since the advent of talking films, in the new "paint crew" which are found on all the technicolor sets at the First National Studios. The painters, who are needed to change colors in sets and backgrounds, if the Technicolor cameramen do not find the colors suitable, were first used on "No, No, Nanette," the lavish First National Vitaphone musical screen comedy, now playing at the Capitol Theatre. They rapidly spray paint over a section that "clashes" or is not "complementary" to the rest of the scene. The paint crew works under the supervision of the art director.

Alexander Gray, Bernice Claire, Louise Littlefield, Louise Fazenda, Lillian Tashman and others are in the cast of "No, No, Nanette," which is proving one of the hits of the season. It contains the largest color settings ever filmed.

no machinery for the pacific settlement of disputes.

Rt. Hon. Sir George Foster said this protocol touched the high water mark of the League of Nations. It was a very notable and beneficial step. It provided that no other pacific means than this court be used for the settlement of disputes.

Hon. H. U. Bellenden strongly supported the adherence of Canada to the optional clause. There was no doubt that it rendered great service to humanity.

Hon. W. B. Willoughby, Conservative leader, said undoubtedly the adherence by Canada to the permanent court of international justice would be appreciated by the Canadian people. There was no doubt that the establishment of this court had greatly facilitated the settlement of international disputes.

ANTIQUE AUTO STILL RUNS

They built automobiles to last in the good old days. The one built by Gottfried Schloemer in Milwaukee, in 1880, is said to be the first ever constructed in the United States, is still able to crawl over eighteen miles an hour despite its forty years. F. L. Cusick, its present owner, is shown here taking a ride in it. It runs by naphtha. Gasoline is not powerful enough to drive its one-cylinder motor.

"FIGHT IN DARK" PROVIDES LAUGHS IN ROYAL PLAY

The farce, "The Whole Town's Talking," which is running at the Royal Theatre this week, will prove a wonderful tonic to anyone suffering from the blues. The laughter begins almost directly after the curtain rises and continues until it falls.

James McGrath as Henry Simmonds, who tries to arrange everything and gets hopelessly muddled, and Gordon McLeod, the victim, who has to pretend to be the opposite of all that he really is, are both wonderfully clever in their impersonations. Claude Bailey as a movie director has an extremely funny role.

OPERETTA MAKES GREAT SUCCESS AS TALKIE FILM

One of the most successful operettas of recent years, the glamorous "The Vagabond King" has been converted to the majestic magnitude of the talking screen and is at the Dominion Theatre all this week. Dennis King, who established the original thrilling title role, will be seen and heard in the same part in the picture, which is all-singing, talking and 100 per cent technicolor.

FARRELL SPANKS MISS GAYNOR IN LATEST PICTURE

Life always balances its awards. Just when Janet Gaynor was being chosen the best actress for the past year by the Motion Picture Academy of Arts and Sciences, she was being spanked by Charles Farrell. And Frank Borzage, directing them in the Fox picture, "Lucky Star," at the Playhouse Theatre, was pleading with Charles to spank Janet harder. Of course, it was all in the cause of art. But it is certain that Janet gave full vent to her emotional talent in this scene.

I Have Never Felt Better In My Life

Says Alberta Man After Taking
Dodd's Kidney Pills

Mr. G. E. Lawson, Suffered With His Kidneys

Cesar, Alta., April (Special)
That relief can be obtained from all kinds of kidney disorders by using Dodd's Kidney Pills is again evidenced by the testimonial received from Mr. G. E. Lawson of this place. He writes: "I find your Dodd's Kidney Pills extra fine. I was suffering from kidney trouble and a friend told me to try Dodd's Kidney Pills. I did, and after the first box I felt fine. I took two more boxes and never felt better in my life."

It is astounding how many people go on suffering day after day with aches and pains, backaches and rheumatism. They suffer because they are not aware of the fact that they can get relief. Strengthen the kidneys, which are the source of the trouble and these pains vanish. Dodd's Kidney Pills act directly on the kidneys. (Adv.)
